Council Insists on Raising Water Rates in Atlanta

EMERGENCY CITED AS FIGHT ON MOVE IS DOWNED, 26-9

White Loses Determined Battle Against Plan; Councilman Berman's Ward-Consolidation Measure Turned Down.

TAX ASSESSORS' POSTS RETAINED

Perkerson Is Re-elected, Hancock Replaced; Pro- posal To Abolish War- den's Office Approved.

Maintaining its position by a vote of 26 to 9 that Atlanta water rates must be advanced to meet fiscal emergencies in the borough government, council Monday afternoon took the following other important steps:

1. Declined to approve Councilman Joseph E. Berman's ward consolidation measure by a vote of 16 to 18. The plan was offered as the removal of the last obstacle in the way of favoring reception by Georgia assembly members of the James L. Key ward and council reduction plan. The key scheme provides for reduction of 13 wards to six and council from 39 to 18.

2. Tabled a proposal to establish a commission form of government for Atlanta by a vote of 12 against 19 for. The measure was offered by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam and Councilman Tom M. Smith, and provided for a city manager and six commissioners as follows: Schools, public works, finance, health, police and fire.

3. Voted to abolish the office of warden of the borough of Atlanta when the term of William Johnson expires December 31, 1932, by a vote of 23 to 4, thus reversing its former action in that matter at the insistence of Mayor Roy T. G. Everett III.

4. Turned Milligan down on a second proposal to abolish two of the three tax assessors' posts, reflecting Harry M. Perkerson, incumbent for half a dozen years. The power in the hands of the council, naming former Councilman Leo Suddeth to succeed Hancock. Terms are for four years.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, led a determined fight against the water increase measure which already had been passed in council and which in a modified form is now before the Georgia assembly. White urged that council withdraw its former request to the assembly. Council asked that all restrictions be taken from the water rate and that council be permitted to set the price of the commodity. The power in the assembly provides a 25 per cent increase for two years with a proviso that proceeds must go to schools.

White's fight increased.

"This is no time to create new taxes, and a water raise means just that," White told council. "The people of Atlanta don't want it, such a plan is illegal, and the courts will hold that. Atlanta's board of education is inefficient and admitted it was in 1927 when it voted to place itself under the guidance and direction of a group of private citizens. At that time the deficit was $530,000. It is larger today."

"I have been told that if the water increase is made effective, the public service commission will grant an increase in gas rates which this council is now fighting, and I think it should."

Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward, held that council should dictate what the rate should be. He said, "Gas rates are not comparable to the water rates charged by Atlanta. The profits of the gas company go to Chicago or some other city, ours stay here and help educate our children."

Alderman J. Charlie Murphy hit the schools for placing automatic sale.

Roosevelt Gives Blood To Aid Paralysis Fight

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, who 10 years ago was stricken with an attack of infantile paralysis, has given a pint of his blood to be used in a serum for combating an outbreak of the disease in New York.

Announcement of the blood donation was made tonight by the state department of health. The governor's action, said the announcement, was in response to an appeal to all who had been afflicted with the disease to give blood for the serum.

Mr. Roosevelt made a similar donation in 1928.

SILENCE CLOSSES OVER LINDBERGH'S AS 2 FLIGHTS FAIL

Pangborn and Herndon Abandon Hope for Rec- ord, While Robbins and Jones Are Forced Down.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Two ambitious air adventures were abandoned yesterday while the pontoon-fitted plane of the Lindberghs skimmed further northward on their holiday jaunt toward the orient.

Wing damage caused Hugh Herndon Jr. and Clyde Pangborn to put an end to their attempt to set a new around-the-world speed record at Khabarovsk, Siberia.

For a second time Reg. L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones were forced down in an effort to fly nonstop from Seattle to Tokyo with the aid of a refueling ship.

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were unreported at their destination, Baker Lake, N. W. T., 375 miles north of Churchill, Manitoba. However, it was presumed that heavy static had kept the radio signals of their plane from being heard after they left Churchill at 1:45 p. m., E. S. T.

With Tokyo as her objective, Amy Johnson, flying from London, pushed around the world speed record at Khabarovsk, Siberia.

STATUTE PREVENTS REPORT FROM LINDBERGH'S GOAL

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Bound for Baker Lake, 375 miles distant, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh streaked away today into a northland illuminated by aurora borealis and filled with static which drowned the radio signals of their speedy plane.

The atmospheric conditions after the Lindberghs left here at 1:45 p. m. (E. S. T.) were so unfavorable that neither the Lindberghs nor the government station at Baker Lake could communicate with the outside world.

The many futile efforts of the Ottawa, Churchill and intermediate official and amateur stations to contact the Lindberghs led government authorities at Ottawa to express the belief that the static would not permit any word to filter through the ether until morning.

At Baker the most leisurely flying along the rocky shore of the west side of Hudson Bay would have brought the flying couple to Baker Lake by 7 p. m. (E. S. T.).

The entire chain of radio stations from Ottawa to Churchill, thence to Chesterfield, N. W. T., and westerly to Baker Lake, supplemented by scores of amateurs, was on the alert for word of the Lindberghs, but nothing had been received.

At Baker the morning thoroughly overhauled the plane, replenishing its fuel supply and checking engine and radio. To make sure that all was well, and that they would not be cut off from the world again as they were for hours before and after their arrival at Moose Factory, the fliers circled over this town, trying to establish a radio link with the north. Cheering hundreds of workers lined the shores as the Lindbergh plane dipped in a final salute.

At Baker Lake they will find a small settlement of a few whites, including but one woman, and native Eskimos. From there they will turn westward, heading toward Akavik, 1,115 miles away.

$100,000 Blaze Sweeps 5-Story Pryor Street Structure; Thick Smoke Hampers Firemen Fighting Stubborn Flames

Dense clouds of suffocating black smoke hung like a pall over the business district early Monday afternoon and swirled about Pryor street to hamper Atlanta firemen in their efforts to fight one of the city's most tenacious fires in recent years. Loss of approximately $100,000 resulted from the gutting of the five-story building adjoining the Trust Company of Georgia and occupied by the Horne Desk and Fixture Company. The bank building, shown in the lower foreground of the picture above, and the Hurt Building, at the extreme right, are virtually deserted during most of the hour and a half of excitement and the streets were jammed for blocks around the burning structure. Photo by J. T. Holloway.

While billowing clouds of dense smoke spread a midnight pall over the downtown area, fire which started at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon completely gutted the five-story building of the Horne Desk & Fixture Company, on North Pryor street, damaged the building of the Trust Company of Georgia next door and for a time imperiled the entire block. In this the police were aided by the smoke, which effectively drove the curious away, choking and gasping, when they got too close. Several firemen and a score or more of onlookers were nauseated by the dense fumes, while one fireman was severely cut on the hand by broken glass.

The loss for the Horne company's building was placed at $75,000, with $25,000 insurance. Including the stock and fixtures of the desk company the total loss was estimated at well over $100,000. The building is owned by J. H. Porter and the Rosser estate.

Damage to the Trust Company of Georgia building was confined to windows broken by the heat and water. At one time the skylight caught fire but this was quickly smothered when firemen ran a line of hose through the lobby of the building.

Twelve lines of hose were throwing water on the burning edifice at one time, from Pryor street, from the alley in the rear, across the airshaft of the Trust Company building and from the roof of a vacant building on the other side. The streets for a block

Former Janitor Buried In Huge $15,000 Casket

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Philip Magno, 61, who died Saturday, was buried today in a $15,000 casket weighing 1,350 pounds which he bought two years ago. He had contracted with an undertaker to conduct the funeral and specified that the pallbearers were to receive $5 each.

Magno directed that the automobile following the hearse be unoccupied but this part of the arrangements was not carried out to the letter. Such a great crowd turned out that an officer rode in the car behind the hearse so as to reach the church ahead of the jam.

Magno for years was a janitor and elevator operator in a local business building and had acquired considerable money.

SCHOOLS' FAILURE TO ADJUST TO ECONOMY PROGRAM SCORED

Full-Time Operation of Borough Depends on Education Division's Co- operation, Officials Warn

On co-operation of the Atlanta public school system hinges the only possibility of operation of all departments of the borough government for the remainder of the year, and Mayor James L. Key and Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the finance committee, Monday prepared to obtain it.

Key and Murphy held a conference following a meeting of all department heads Monday morning, when all divisions with the exception of the schools promised to accept employees to work a month this year without compensation in order to avert a serious financial crisis in the borough government.

During the discussions the mayor made it plain that unless the school department co-operated, he will insist that the schools be treated as all other departments but will seek to carry other divisions and let the schools go. Murphy expressed the same thought.

The mayor will seek a conference with the next few days with Miss Allie M. Gaines, president of the board of education, and suggest a special meeting of the board to pledge its co-operative efforts with other divisions.

At 11:45 a.m. the deficit of $148,000, according to estimates, with schools having a total of $901,000 for the entire amount. Key has announced a policy of treating all departments alike, but the schools have not yet agreed to place into effect the proposed 30-day work without pay. Without some such agreement and without the additional money it is proposed to turn into borough coffers through a water rate hike, the October 1 pay roll cannot be met.

"We must obtain the co-operation of the school department before we attempt to place into effect the proposed 30-day work without pay," Key said Monday afternoon. "It would be useless to put that system into effect in other departments unless the schools fall in line. I shall ask Miss Mann to take the matter up with the association, and ask Mr. Gaines to call a special meeting of the board to discuss approval of it."

"Unless the schools take steps to co-operate with the borough in its financial problems, I shall not vote another cent to it for any purpose this year," Murphy said. "We cannot carry the load any longer. Some remedy must be found, and it would not be fair to other departments to ask them to stand cuts unless the schools are willing to co-operate."

Reels.

Councilman J. Frank Beck, vice chairman of the finance committee, Monday morning laid the financial crisis at the door of the school department.

"Our whole trouble is due to the school department going beyond its budget," he said. "It is unthinkable to close our schools, but it might be a wholesome lesson to that department to do so."

Exclusive of the school department deficit, the other departments of the borough could easily absorb their $490,000 deficit without an additional levy, it is pointed out, by the 30-day work without pay plan. The $901,000 shortage in the school department, every facility of the government.

Church's Financial Condition Given as Reason. Resignation Rejected.

Dr. D. Witherspoon Dodge, for the last eight years pastor of the Central Congregational church, and a leader in educational, civic and welfare work, Monday night announced his resignation from the pastorate of the church, to take effect October 1. The financial condition of the church, which hitherto has been self-supporting, was given as the reason for his action.

In a statement issued at the special meeting to which he tendered his resignation, Dr. Dodge said:

"For fear someone may connect my resignation with my recent stand on prohibition, in which I commended Mayor Key both for his views and for his courage in expressing them, I wish to say that this matter has absolutely nothing to do with my leaving the pastorate of Central Congregational church. My church has always permitted its ministers to express their own convictions apart from any group dictation."

"My resignation is due solely to the distressing financial situation through which the country and the whole world is passing. The membership of Central church is small, and the church has lost several families by removal from the city, who were its most active workers and supporters. Of course a church like every other organization, has a business side, and without adequate financial support it cannot keep going."

At a special meeting Monday night, members of the church refused to accept Dr. Dodge's resignation, unanimously passing a motion to appoint a committee of five with instructions to see whether he cannot be induced to withdraw it. Dr. E. S. Pressey acted as moderator at the meeting, which was featured by many eloquent tributes to Dr. Dodge's service as pastor of the church. Dr. Pressey will appoint the committee within the next week, and its findings will be announced to the entire church membership some time during this month.

QUITMAN LEADER HELD IN KILLING

John L. Reinschmidt Wealthy Manufacturer, Jailed in Madison, Fla.

GREENVILLE, Fla., Aug. 3.—(AP)—John L. Reinschmidt, prominent businessman and manufacturer of Quitman, Ga., was being held in jail at Madison, Fla., as a suspect in the shooting Sunday of English Smith.

Authorities said they learned Reinschmidt had taken Mrs. Smith for a motor ride and the two had returned to the home of Mrs. E. C. Driggers, Mrs. Smith's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Smith had been separated several months.

The story told to investigating officers said Smith appeared at the home of his mother-in-law soon after the return of Reinschmidt and Mrs. Smith, and attacked both his wife and Reinschmidt.

During the fight, police learned, Smith was shot three times, dying instantly.

The coroner's inquest has been set for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Reinschmidt is president of the Quitman Chamber of Commerce, heads the Hotel General Quitman Corporation and is owner of the Reinschmidt State mill, the Quitman Brokerage Company and the Reinschmidt Vinegar Company. He is an active leader in civic and social affairs at Quitman.

Neither Reinschmidt nor Mrs. Smith would make any statement for publication tonight, saying their attorneys had advised them to keep silent.

The dead man was about 50 years old. His widow is 30 and Reinschmidt is between 65 and 70, Sheriff G. L. Morrow said.

Wealthy St. Louisan Beaten As Kidnap Attempt Fails

Victim Identifies One of Two Men Held As Alleged Assaultants; Manufacturer's Son Robbed of $10.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Oscar Johnson II, 28, son of the late Oscar Johnson, one of the founders of the International Shoe Company, was robbed and severely beaten this afternoon by two men, who, county authorities said, attempted to kidnap him. Johnson was robbed and assaulted near the estate of his mother, Mrs. Greese Johnson, at St. Albans, Franklin county.

"There's no doubt it was an attempted kidnaping," Sheriff Alfred Lill said. "He put up such a vigorous fight that they let him go."

Johnson was brought to Barnes hospital here, suffering from severe scalp wounds, a deep laceration of the hip and two lacerated teeth.

Shortly after the attack, St. Louis county officers arrested two men, one of whom Sheriff Lill said, Johnson positively identified. Johnson was "a little doubtful" about the other, the sheriff said.

Johnson had just left his mother's 17,000-acre estate for St. Louis when

An investigation of the contents of the safe was begun immediately by police.

Examination of the other records of the organization was continued by an auditing staff during the day.

TALMADGE OFFICE GIVEN HEAVY CUT BY SENATE GROUP

Farm Division Reduced $130,000 Annually; In- surance Fund Elim- inated; Executive Appro- priation Money Cut.

GOVERNOR FAVORS GAS LEVY INCREASE

Executive Advocates Five- Year Discount of W. & A. Railroad Rentals as Joint Measure.

Solution of Georgia's financial problems was offered from three different sources Monday.

The senate appropriations committee, guiding its razor-edged shears with careful attention to the so-called "Grafters' Bible," clipped $700,000 from the 1932 and 1933 appropriations bill approved by the house and promised further cuts at a meeting tonight.

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. informed a sub-committee of the house ways and means committee that he favors a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax and a five-year discount of Western & Atlantic railroad rentals as a joint method of meeting the state's $8,900,000 deficit.

And Senator Roy Harris, of the 18th, in a meeting of the senate appropriations committee, revived highway diversion by obtaining postponement until tonight of consideration by the committee of the highway department feature of the money bill in order that a 15 per cent diversion amendment may be prepared.

Farm Department Cut.

The state department of agriculture, already the loser by $100,000 a year at the hands of the house, came in for a severe cut by the senate committee when that body reduced the department's funds from $255,000 for 1932 and $245,000 for 1933, as from the house, to $125,000 for each year, and adopted an amendment with the effect, it was pointed out, of "making sure that the Market Bulletin is killed."

By the time of adjournment, with the committee not half way through the bill, $420,000 for 1932, as from the 1932 appropriations set by the house, and $282,000 from the 1933 figures. The agricultural department shared the doubtful honors of the highest cuts, with the governor's fund for insurance on public property, which suffered eradication of its total of $153,000 for 1932 and $153,000 for 1933, and the executive department's emergency appropriation, which lost $125,000 from each year's total.

Action on the bill to cut the controller-general's department from $120,000 to $100,000 for each year was postponed until tonight in order to allow the department head a hearing.

In slashing the insurance on public property items, the committee decided to let the state carry its own insurance by taking whatever loss results from fire. It was pointed out that

PROPOSAL TO CREATE FULTON DISTRICT LOST

House Committee Adverses
Plan Offered by Representative Gullatt.

The proposal to create a new state senatorial district out of Fulton county alone was adversely Monday night by the house committee on constitutional amendments, although a senate bill to create the 52nd senatorial district out of Berrien, Cook and Louisa counties was approved. The Fulton senatorial district bill was introduced in the house by Representative C. H. Gullatt, of Campbell. A similar bill has been introduced in the senate by Senator E. L. Reagan, of the 35th.

The house constitutional amendments committee at a Monday night meeting voted to report out unfavorably a bill by President Neill of the senate and others creating the elective office of lieutenant governor.

The committee also disapproved a house bill giving the state and counties the right to use appropriations for the common schools in support of high schools but gave its o. k. to a senate measure with the same provisions.

A house measure by Representative Colson, of Glynn, to exempt from state taxation for a period of 15 years any plant constructed in Georgia for the making of paper from pine pulp, was reported out unfavorably by the committee.

Disapproval also was given a measure by Representative Elliott, of Henry, to permit municipalities to bond in excess of the general limit of bonded indebtedness to improve public-owned utilities plant or erect a new one.

An unfavorable report also was ordered on the bill of Representative Brown, of Green county, to reconstitute the state assembly into one house with 31 members.

Passage was recommended for the measure by Davis, of Floyd, and Sisk, of Elbert, to have the state superintendent of education appointed by the state school board instead of election by the people as at present.

many state institutions carry insurance out of their own funds, and that the state's property is so widely scattered that any fire loss during the two years probably would not amount to anything like the total of the appropriation for premiums.

The committee amended the emergency appropriation of the executive department by limiting publication of constitutional amendments to one paper in each congressional district.

The warmest fight of the evening developed over the agricultural department, when motions to raise the house appropriation to $300,000 for each year and to cut it to $200,000 for each year were voted down, and an amendment setting the figures at $125,000 was adopted by a vote of 10 to 7.

Banking Chief Cut.

Salary of the state superintendent of banks, limited to $7,200 by the house bill, was cut to $6,000 by the senate committee.

The state department of education proposed the bill to levy a tax of one cent on each year, but amendments seeking to eliminate the state school auditors and place their work in the state auditor's office were held up until tonight in order to obtain further information. Action on the common school funds was postponed until the remainder of the bill is finished.

After a short debate, the committee decided to leave in the bill a provision for $96,000 to come out of the education department's appropriation for the payment of county school superintendents.

Action on a proposal to increase the department of vocational education by $2,500 for each year was postponed until tonight, the division of industrial rehabilitation item also was postponed.

Of the few increases allowed by the committee, the forestry department received an additional $5,000, making $30,000 for each year, the increase to be used for the state property at Indian Springs. The military department was raised from $14,000 to $17,000 for each year for maintenance.

Librarian's Salary Limited.

An amendment limiting salary of the state librarian to $300 a month was adopted. The librarian was said to have received $4,781.40 in 1930 from salary and fees for commissioning notaries public at large. The committee also adopted an amendment requiring that no decisions of the appellate court be printed pending certification or motion for rehearing.

The committee finished the section on the pension department, and was engaged in consideration of the printing department appropriation when adjournment was voted. Senator E. E. Doble, chairman, said he hopes to finish the bill tonight so it can be reported to the senate Wednesday morning.

The "Grafters' Bible," a compilation of salaries and expenses of all state employees, was referred to frequently by the committee in arriving at its decisions on appropriations. This volume first appeared at the extra session early this year, and was reprinted as a revised edition brought up to date for the present session. On several items, reference to the "Grafters' Bible" resulted in reduced totals.

The budget recommendations placed amounts available for the state at $10,906,908.14 for 1932 and $10,907,400.14 for 1933.

Sales Tax Opposed.

In connection with the governor's announcement on his favorable attitude to the gas tax increase and the rental discount plan, it became known definitely from another source that the governor is—as he was during his campaign for nomination—opposed to any extension of the sales tax beyond December 31 of this year.

With the executive position made clear, members of the house ways and means subcommittee were inclined to the view that the appropriations bill passed by the house may not exceed anticipated revenues. Admitting such a possibility, however, Chairman E. M. Davis said that the committee "might" work out a substitute for bills levying taxes on public utilities, soft drinks and motor carriers. Spoken for the governor explained his preference for a 7-cent tax on gasoline principally on the ground that the executive believes it to be the easiest and least burdensome of all the proposals which have been offered to meet the unpaid appropriations.

Gasoline, they pointed out, with a 7-cent tax, can be purchased today for 15 and 16 cents as compared with 22 and 24 cents two years ago when the tax was boosted to 6 cents. A discount of the rentals for five years, instead of 10 as proposed in the original Battle-Alben bill, is favored by the executive because it will yield the treasury, immediately, approximately $2,000,000 to be distributed among the institutions and schools.

Tax Plans Hit Hopper.

Both the 7-cent gas tax and the tax on soft drinks hit the hopper Monday morning. The gas tax increase bill, which heard Governor Russell, of Key, of Jasper, the author of the bill to extend the sales tax; Representatives Lane, of Hall; McGhee, of Talbot; the ways and means committee, of Brooks, all administration supporters.

Representative Logan, of Banks county, sponsored the bill to levy a special tax on both manufacturers and distributors of soft drinks and syrups. Members of the special subcommittee which heard Governor Russell outline his taxation views at an executive session Monday, included Chairman Davis, of the ways and means committee; Chairman Culpepper, of the appropriations committee; Representatives Kennedy, Lanham, Fagan, Park and Madore.

Another Session Today.

Another session of the subcommittee will be held this afternoon, at which time details of the administration plan probably will be announced. Russell himself had nothing to say for publication after the meeting.

In view of conflicting statements made in the ways and means committee about the governor's position on a sales tax, members of the ways and means committee Monday were furnished photostatic copies of a telegram he sent to his Albany manager during the campaign.

"Am opposed to sales tax or gross income tax on merchants," the message said. "Present sales tax expires December 31 and I do not favor extension. Retail merchants have absolutely nothing to fear from my administration or my views on taxation. Will be glad to submit detailed information on any point. Those fostering sales tax are supporting Carwell."

Answer To Culpepper.

The circulation of the governor's sales tax message followed a statement made in the committee by Chairman Culpepper, of the appropriations committee, who informed members that the governor had not said he was opposed to the sales tax.

Discussing "a possible discrepancy in revenue receipts for 1932 and 1933, upon which he had based the statement that the state might have appropriated, by $1,250,000, more than it anticipated, Chairman Davis said his conclusions were only tentative and made in the light of decrease in disbursements, the inability of officials to make collections and the probable shrinkage, also, in income taxes.

The gasoline tax of an extra cent would be levied for three years and would yield about $6,750,000, committee members said. The discount rental plan would bring in probably $2,000,000. An increase of $150,000 in other taxes would completely wipe out the deficit, they said.

Soldiers' Home Conversion.

Among the new bills introduced at Monday's session was one by Representative Mattox, of Colquitt, to discontinue the use of the Soldiers' home and to provide that the property, estimated to be worth $300,000, be converted into wings for taking care of the overflow at the Milledgeville state sanatorium or leased by the state and the money appropriated to the public schools.

There are now less than 28 inmates of the home, Mattox said, and the present per capita cost is in excess of $1,000. He hopes to be able to secure the passage of an amendment which would pay to those veterans now in the home as much as $50 per month.

With only 17 days of the session remaining, the rules committee expects to take charge Thursday. Many minor statewide bills are awaiting action and the house yet has to pass on its tax measures and the W. & A. bill. An amendment, Representatives Battle and Allen said Monday, will be offered today reducing the time of discount from 10 to 5 years.

Cancellation of Debts.

A resolution, sponsored by Representative Munday, of Clayton county, would provide for the appointment of a joint senate and house committee to hold a conference with heads of state departments and institutions in an effort to get the heads affected by unpaid appropriations to renounce and cancel 60 per cent of the debts.

A bill to cut the present 20 per cent tax on cigarettes in half was introduced by Representative Nelson, of Cook county.

Among the important measures passed Monday was the lawyers' bill of Representative Henry A. Beaman, of DeKalb. This measure, which restricts and defines the practice of law, was introduced in the house by the DeKalb member early in the session and passed by an overwhelming vote. It then went to the senate where it was amended in minor particulars, coming back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments. Beaman declared, in the course of remarks Monday, that the bill would do much to raise the ethics of the profession and prevent those not licensed to engage in practice.

Senator McWhorter's bill to increase the governor's staff from 34 to 50, the additional members to have the rank of lieutenant colonel, also was passed by the house.

A bill of Senator Stark, providing that school boards report annually to the state, failed to obtain the constitutional majority another, permitting independent school districts to vote for county superintendents, was defeated.

Adjournment came during a vigorous debate on the bill to abolish the present system of county game wardens and substitute a state system with whole-time officers working under the fish and game department.

surrounding office buildings were returning from lunch and at an hour when the business section of the city is filled with shoppers, the spectacular blaze attracted a tremendous throng of people. So thick was the smoke, however, that at times it was impossible to see more than two or three feet for a block around the scene. The smoke actually hid the flames from view most of the time.

The first alarm was turned in shortly before 1 o'clock and five companies answered the call. In a little while it was evident that it would take every piece of apparatus the department could muster to prevent the flames from spreading through the adjoining buildings and eating through the entire block. A general alarm then was sent in.

Brought Under Control.

It was 2:30 o'clock before the fire was under control. At that hour Chief Terrell stated that danger of the fire spreading was over, though it probably would be necessary to keep a hose playing on the ruins through the night.

Employees in offices of the Trust Company of Georgia building and other neighboring structures carried valuable papers and office equipment to safety. Many offices in the Hurt building, on the far side of Edgewood avenue, have to be deserted during the height of the fire because of the suffocating smoke.

Several boards at the Southern Bell Telephone exchange, facing on Auburn avenue, but with its rear close to the burning building, were temporarily put out of commission by water, while employees of the telephone company aided in fighting the flames by playing water from their roof onto buildings on Equitable Place to prevent spread of the flames.

Dameron Black, secretary and treasurer of the Trust Company of Georgia, said Monday night that only minor water damage was suffered by that building in the fire. "Our doors will be open Tuesday morning as usual, with business uninterrupted. Our building suffered only very slight damage."

To Bread-Naming Contestants

WE have been delayed in awarding the Chevrolet Coach for the name of our new sliced loaf due to the fact that four names already selected by the judges have been sent to Washington and registration of them refused because of a registration already existing for a similar product. However, the fifth name is now being looked up in the registration office in Washington, and if registration is granted we hope to be able to announce the new name of the bread and winning car very soon. If this fifth name is rejected in the registration office, naturally it will take further time, but we hope to be able to make the announcement within the next week or ten days.

WORLD BANK'S AID IS GIVEN GERMANY

Renewal of $100,000,000 Rediscunt Credit Will Give Fresh Relief.

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Bank for International Settlements went to the temporary relief of Germany again today as the directors voted renewal of the bank's participation in the $100,000,000 rediscunt credit which expires Friday.

It was generally assumed that the Bank of France, the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York would act in agreement with the World Bank and thus make the entire $100,000,000 available for the Reichsbank for a period up to three months.

It was understood the Bank of France already had given its approval and it was confidently believed that the Federal Reserve would continue its participation, but a spokesman for the Bank of England again asked for time to consult his directors.

More far-reaching in its possibilities for restoring German financial stability was the action of the World Bank directors in constituting a special committee to study Germany's immediate needs for new credits and to examine the possibility of converting existing short-term credits into long-term loans.

The directors set the first meeting of this committee, of which Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, is the American member, for next Saturday afternoon at Basel. In well-informed quarters, it was suggested that after organizing here, the investigators would move to Berlin.

The committee will decide its own procedure after choosing its chairman. It is hoped the work may be accomplished in a few weeks—perhaps as few as three—but it is recognized that the task may require a much longer time.

It is not known here to whom the committee's report will be made, whether to the World Bank or to the governments involved, but doubtless it will be available to both and to the public.

Reduction Shown.

Taking note of a statement of accounts showing the bank's position July 31, an official communique issued after today's brief session said, "the total for this statement is 1,622,000,000 Swiss francs (about $240,000,000), or a reduction of 148,000,000 francs (about $22,800,000) as compared with the previous statement."

The communique explained that the decline was due in part to the Hoover war debt plan and in part to the fact that some central banks had been "compelled to sell foreign exchange in order to meet withdrawals of capital from various European markets."

"These losses," the communique continued, "have been offset in part by new deposits from the central banks to whose markets capital has returned. On July 31, 21 per cent of the resources of the bank took the form of sight assets or immediate rediscunt bills, the percentage represented by sight liabilities being only 33 per cent."

IDLE RAIL LABOR APPEALS FOR AID

350,000 Unemployed Face Severe Winter, Says Brotherhood Chief.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The 350,000 unemployed railroad workers in this country will face "a very severe winter" unless something is done soon for their relief, David E. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said today. A request of executives of the 21 railroad labor organizations comprising the Railway Labor Executives Association, of which Mr. Robertson is chairman, that railroad executives meet with them to consider a solution of unemployment has been rejected, Robertson said, as well as a counter proposal of the lines that each deal separately.

Robertson said the labor executives have not yet decided what their next step will be, but probably would meet in about two weeks to determine it. The brotherhood chief said that the railroad unemployed were being helped now by funds contributed by employed fellow workers, but these funds were almost exhausted. He said that outside help was imperative.

The labor executives made the proposal for the general conference with the railroads last spring, suggesting that such railroad problems as regulation of highway, waterway and pipeline transportation services "to eliminate unfair competition" be discussed along with the labor problems.

The labor executives also wanted to discuss the six-hour day and the five-day week as an unemployment solution.

3 NEGROES SLAIN BATTLING POLICE

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Three negroes were killed and a dozen or more persons, including three policemen, were injured today in a south-side riot which started when two bailiffs attempted to evict a negro family for non-payment of rent.

An emergency call for police reserves brought about 100 to disperse the crowd of several hundred persons. The demonstrators, assorted communists and most of them negroes, gathered at the home when word spread through the neighborhood that eviction proceedings had been started against the family. They paraded up and down the street and shouted defiance to the bailiffs.

Police arrived shortly after the demonstrators began to beat and kick the eviction officers. The three negroes were killed by bullets from the policemen's guns and several others were wounded. Other injuries resulted when persons in the mob were trampled upon or struck with clubs.

The three police most seriously injured were John McKiddler, Martin Earnst and Fred Graham, the latter a negro. They were taken to a hospital in serious conditions.

It was the second time in recent weeks that communist demonstrations have been held in Chicago's south-side negro district in protest to evictions. On the other occasion there were no serious injuries.

BANKERS OPPOSE COTTON LIMIT LAW

Group Meets in Austin in Effort To Eliminate Overproduction.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 3.—(P)—Opposition to limitation of cotton acreage by law was expressed today by bankers attending a cotton meeting here. The session was preliminary to a southwide conference tomorrow, called by Governor Ross S. Sterling in an attempt to eliminate cotton overproduction.

M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal land bank at Houston, said he could not concur in the view that cotton acreage should be reduced by law. He said "more work and less play among farmers, together with patience until the present general depression was over," probably would solve the problem.

J. W. Hoopes, of Dallas, president of the Texas Bankers' Association, said he was "unalterably opposed" to a law forcing an acreage cut. "We tried to legislate prohibition and we now are worse off than we were before," Hoopes said.

Gossett admitted he saw no immediate prospect of cotton rising above its present 8 or 9-cent price. He expressed hope that prices of articles which the cotton farmer used would decline in proportion.

"The farmer must raise more bales and a better quality of cotton on fewer acres and at less cost," Gossett said. "He must do more work and put in gardens, orchards and food crops on his other land." He pointed out that this year's cotton crop had been raised at less cost than ever before. Farmers, many of them, unable

Court Ordered Closed For Vanderbilt Case

When their separation first became known last June there was some talk that Mrs. Vanderbilt would ask for $600 a month.

to get credit at the banks, are doing more of their own work. He stated that the only other state represented at the morning session, Mayor Ross L. Lawton, of North Little Rock, representative of Governor H. H. Clegg, was here, and W. H. and J. V. Toland, of Nashville, Ark. Representative Lawrence Westbrook, of Waco, one of the conference leaders, said delegates from seven other states would be on hand tomorrow.

COMMITTEE APPROVES COTTON REDUCTION BILL

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 3.—(P)—A sub-committee drafting recommendations to the southwide cotton conference here tomorrow approved the Texas cotton acreage reduction bill late today.

The proposed law would prevent the planting of the same land to cotton two years in succession. Desirability of other southern states enacting similar laws will be discussed at the session tomorrow.

W. L. Clayton, of Houston, large cotton merchant; J. W. Hoopes, of Dallas, president of the state bankers' association; and M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land bank at Houston, attacked the plan.

The sub-committee also recommended that President Hoover call a world conference to investigate the effect of the tariff and war debts on the cotton trade and to make such revisions as needed. Clayton had stated the buying power of other nations was being "dried up" by the tariff and intergovernmental debts.

The committee endorsed the activities of agencies for the increased use of cotton. Members of the sub-committee were Dr. P. W. Horn, president of Texas Tech; A. A. Allison, of Corsicana; J. B. Fortson, of Corsicana; O. B. Martin, director of the experimental station of Texas A. and A.; and Dr. N. D. Bule, of Marlin, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The conference was called by Governor Ross S. Sterling to attempt to solve the overproduction problem.

FARMERS' GROUP TO BID ON SHOALS

Commission Decides To Include Cove Creek Project in Negotiations.

FLORENCE, Ala., Aug. 3.—(P)—Without revealing details, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, formally notified the Muscle Shoals commission, at its first business meeting today, that his organization stands ready to submit a bid for leasing the entire project, including the power facilities, Cove Creek dam and Dam No. 3.

The notification followed formal organization of the commission of nine, named by President Hoover and the governors of Alabama and Tennessee, to discuss disposition of the $150,000,000 government nitrate plants and hydro-electric development.

A greater part of today's discussion centered about Cove Creek dam, with the commission finally deciding that Cove Creek dam is a necessary part of the Muscle Shoals project, and will be included in any plan it might recommend.

Sam F. Hobbs, Selma, Ala., attorney and former circuit court judge, was named permanent chairman of the commission, and Captain Thomas H. Green, of the judge advocate general's department at Washington, was elected secretary.

The commission then drafted rules under which it will operate to complete its organization and set up machinery to further its labors.

Of the nine members of the commission, only W. H. Smith, Prattville, Ala., farmer, who is out of the state, was absent.

GOVERNOR MURRAY TO CLOSE OIL WELLS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 3.—(P)—Apparently unaffected by the tense situation in Oklahoma's oil industry, Governor W. H. Murray proceeded calmly today with the drafting of a shutdown order for prorated wells that will include a brief of a test case on state rights for the United States supreme court.

Time, said the governor, no longer is an element in the crude shutdown controversy. He indicated the order might be forthcoming no earlier than tomorrow or Wednesday.

Meanwhile, many Oklahoma oil wells were wide open, some of them completing allowable production for August, the period for taking of which started Saturday morning. Previously the governor had given crude oil buyers until Saturday night to increase prices to $1 per barrel.

Homes More Deadly Than Hurricanes

Everyone read with keen interest of the disaster which recently

overtook the famous Empire

Builder, crack train of the Great Northern, when a tornado picked it off the tracks near Fargo, N. D., and laid it on its side.

But the accident

was more spectacular than harmful in comparison with thousands of accidents that occur closer to home. Only one man was killed and a half-dozen injured in that accident. The disasters we have real cause to worry about are not the ones which make the first page headlines. Of the 100,000 people who died by accident last year, the most half were killed in their own homes or at work. Another third were killed en route to work, or

while walking or riding for pleasure, by automobiles. In addition there were ten million other more or less serious accidents which cost a billion dollars in hospital and medical bills and loss of time.

NEW GANG VICTIM FOUND IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(P)—While the aid of August grand juries was being solicited today in the campaign to rid New York of bandits and desperadoes, a patrolman stumbled upon the trussed up body of another victim of gang vengeance.

Ripping open the ropes which tied a strange looking bundle lying in a roadway near Queensboro bridge, the officers found the body of a man who had been garroted. Six strands of heavy rope had been knotted around his neck.

From fingerprints, the victim was identified as Angelo Marino, 40, who was arrested in 1928 for felonious assault, but later acquitted. He is believed by police to have had racketeering connections in "Little Italy," the section of Harlem in which five children were wounded, one fatally, in last Tuesday's display of underworld ruthlessness.

A dentist's card was found on the body, but the man whose name it bore was unable to remember ever having seen the victim.

Police surgeons said Marino had been dead only a short time when the patrolman found the body, wrapped in two blankets and tied in an almost square bundle. Detectives were working tonight on the theory that the victim had been killed in Manhattan and his body taken to the neighborhood of the bridge by automobile.

Soviet State Farms Now Larger Than All French-German Farms

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Soviet Russia, world's largest agricultural region, now measures its state farms alone in terms exceeding the combined farming areas of France and Germany. Only the United States has a larger agricultural area than this one Soviet classification.

State farms, distinguished from the "collectives" and individual farms in that they are operated directly by the state, numbered 4,230 at the end of the first six months of 1931 and embraced 163,750,000 acres.

The extent of progress toward socialization of the land is seen in a comparison with the close of the second year of the five-year plan in October, 1930, when the total state farm area was about 100,000,000 acres.

Present state farm acreage actually under cultivation, amounting to about 22,500,000 acres, represents a little less than one-eleventh of the more than 243,000,000 acres sown to all crops this spring. The uncultivated portion embraces live stock ranges and undeveloped soil.

The area of collective farms, intermediate step between individual and state operation, showed even more growth. Their number jumped to 215,000 from 82,276 in 1930 and accounted for more than half the total acreage planted this spring.

Collective farming is a term designating a variety of enterprises involving joint cultivation of the land. They differ from state farms in that they are consolidations of individual holdings jointly operated by the peasants.

Under the system of socialistic development total abolition of individual farm holdings is contemplated eventually, with "collectivization" the initial stage and state operation the final step.

BAR ASSOCIATION HITS RADIO PRIVILEGE LAWS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sharp criticism of legislative proposals to set aside broadcasting facilities for the exclusive use of certain groups or interests was contained in a report to the radio commission today by an American Bar Association communications committee.

The committee was headed by Louis G. Caldwell, former counsel for the radio commission, and included William C. Green, special counsel for the senate interstate commerce committee.

Referring to a bill by Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, to place 15 per cent of the radio facilities at the disposal of educational enterprises, the committee asserted "no more formidable legislative issue faces the next congress . . . than that raised by proposals to require the commission to set aside and reserve broadcasting facilities for particular groups or interests."

The committee forecast that broadcasting stations would come to be regarded "as a sort of public utility, not under a common carrier obligation like a telephone company, but under a public service obligation to deliver good program service."

The minimum consequences of enacting the Fess bill, the committee said, would be, on one hand, "putting out of existence about 30 stations on clear channels (most of them of high power representing large investments) and at the other extreme, it would force the elimination of 240 local stations of 100 watts or less, plus about 50 regional stations of from 250 to 1,000 watts."

The American system of radio development was described as superior to the European.

Citing some over-commercialization, the committee said that remedies such as administrative regulation and restrictions on advertising "should be directed at the evil and not at the programs which in themselves are not a source of complaint and are vastly superior to those found in any other country."

Presbytery To Act In Mordecai Tilt

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The presbytery today received a petition from a representative of a group of members of the First Presbyterian church here asking the removal of Dr. Trevor Mordecai as pastor, but postponed a decision three weeks to permit time to study its contents.

The petition was presented to the presbytery by Will H. Westover, representing the displaced faction, and asserted "we are begging solely for relief from our deplorable and distressing situation. We are the old First church may begin at once to recuperate, re-establish peace and harmony within itself, and devote its best efforts to fulfilling its mission."

The petition added: "This dissension extends to a substantial portion of the congregation." At a meeting of the congregation recently a resolution requesting Dr. Mordecai to resign the pastorate was adopted, 260 to 101.

ALABAMAN FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

RESSEMER, Ala., Aug. 3.—(AP)—L. K. Horton, 49, employee of a slag company here, early today was found shot to death in a brush pile at the edge of a country road near Muscoda, Alabama.

Officers called to the scene said Horton had been shot four times, two of the bullets entering his back. Persons living near the spot reported finding the body, they said.

Horton's automobile was found about 100 yards from where his body was discovered and officers said a trail of blood led from a spot at least that far from the roadway in a nearby woods.

Discovery of a small amount of cash in the man's pockets and his watch led officers to believe robbery was not the motive. Horton left his home late yesterday without revealing his destination.

'Cue To Commemorate Heard's 96th Birthday

Judge John S. Heard, who was born in Henry county, reared in DeKalb and now lives in Fulton county, without ever having moved from his present dwelling place, will be host to a number of friends at a barbecue to be given at his home on Heard's Ferry road at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon on the occasion of his ninety-sixth birthday.

Since his birth the name of the county in which he lived has changed three times. He is the father of 23 children, 13 of whom are living. His oldest living son is 75 and the youngest 26. He has a grandson who is 50 years old, who in turn has two children, making a total of five generations which will attend the barbecue Friday. Two of the sons are Carl and J. S. Heard Jr., employees of Fulton county.

CHINESE NATIONALS ROUT REBEL FORCES

Advance of Canton Insurgents Believed Halted by Federals.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The rebellion of the northern war lord Shih Yu-san was reported nearly crushed today by nationalist government troops at the same time the government announced that Kiangsi province rebels had been defeated and scattered after two months' fighting.

Only a few fleeing bands of the rebel hordes that had drenched the countryside with blood for a year and burned cities were left intact after the vigorous campaign directed by President Chiang Kai-shek.

These reverses, suffered by nationalist foes, were believed to have made unlikely the advance northward by Canton insurgent government armies planned to begin last Saturday.

More than 250,000 rebels of General Shih Yu-san were said by neutral news sources to be virtually surrounded in southern Chihli province. Nationalist armies advanced northward in co-operation with the southward movement of their Manchurian allies.

Pouring eastward through mountain passes, the Shansi province troops of General Shih Yu-san, drove against the rear of the rebels who had been fighting the Manchurians several days. They were said to have been the added factor that caused the insurgents to ask for peace.

President Chiang Kai-shek, however, ordered the fighting continued until the rebels were completely defeated and the military and political power of Shih Yu-san destroyed.

Commenting at Nanking upon nationalist successes, Foreign Minister C. T. Wang remarked cryptically that the whole world should now understand the significance of the recent events, including the secession of Canton, the rebellion of Shih Yu-san, the blind of Eugene Chen, Canton insurgent foreign minister, to Japan, and the riots against the Chinese in Korea.

Wild Air Ride in 'Thunderhead' Described by Cleveland Pilot

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Pilot Ralph C. Wensinger recounted today one of the most nerve-chilling, freakish airplane flights ever experienced and survived. He made the flight above the Cleveland airport yesterday while making his daily ascension to 18,000 feet to make weather tests for the United States weather bureau.

Wensinger said he drove his plane purposely into a cloud formation known as a "thunderhead." Once inside it, he said, tremendous air forces gripped his plane, took it out of his control, shot it upward at 1,400 feet a minute, pushed it sideways nearly 70 miles an hour, and then finally released the grasp to let the plane and occupant escape undamaged.

A thunderhead, Wensinger said, is a towering mass of cotton-like clouds which rise sometimes to a height of several miles.

The pilot said he no longer entered the cloud formation than "my plane was thrown around as I had never known a plane to be before. I was blind, of course, in the cloud, and did not have the least idea what position I was in."

"My instruments were useless, due to the rapid gyrations of the ship, except for the rate of climb indicator, until the rebels were completely defeated and the military and political power of Shih Yu-san destroyed."

Commenting at Nanking upon nationalist successes, Foreign Minister C. T. Wang remarked cryptically that the whole world should now understand the significance of the recent events, including the secession of Canton, the rebellion of Shih Yu-san, the blind of Eugene Chen, Canton insurgent foreign minister, to Japan, and the riots against the Chinese in Korea.

east Texas town, stated that Mrs. Silas Marler, 19-year-old bride of three months, shot and killed her husband, 24, pipe line worker, in their tent-home between Longview and Gladewater.

She was quoted by officers as saying that her husband had refused her requests to stop drinking and that while he was asleep last night she removed a .38 caliber pistol from under his pillow.

When he awoke and missed the pistol, he jumped for the weapon, she said, but she beat him to it and fired, the bullet hitting Marler in the face, causing instant death.

Seizure of 'Dope' in Fulton Tower Leads to Big Haul in Local Hotel

What is termed by federal narcotic agents as one of the largest "dope" hauls staged here in many months was uncovered as the result of the discovery of a torn package of cigarettes in the tower Saturday night. From there the trail led into the Robert Fulton hotel and brought to light packages of dope secreted on five different floors, it was disclosed Monday afternoon when Marshall W. Smith was given a hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith.

Smith, held by local authorities on a charge of shoplifting, was the receiver of a carton of cigarettes at Fulton tower Friday night. Torn packages about the cell Saturday led to an investigation on the part of Jailer Bob Holland, and 113 quarters of dope were found in the cell. They had been secreted in the cigarette packages.

In addition to the cigarettes, there was found in the cell a key to Room 714 of the Robert Fulton hotel, where Smith is alleged to have been stopping prior to his arrest. Holland took the key and gave it to City Detective W. D. McGee and Narcotic Agent Thomas E. McGuire, who went to the hotel and, with the clerk, began a systematic search of the place.

On the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh floors, the officers testified, they found small bottles containing tablets of morphine concealed in the fire hose. They believed the "dope" to be the property of the prisoner held at the tower because on the eighth floor, along with one of the bottles of dope, there was a ticket for a diamond ring pawned in the name of Wiley Smith. Wiley Smith and Marshall W. Smith are one and the same person, the officers said. He denied that the dope was his. His bond was set at $2,000.

The hotel seizure netted 200 grains of morphine in quarter-grain tablets. The hotel management was not connected with the affair, the officers said.

Mercury Reaches 94; Blaze Causes Slump

Rainfall deficiency for month, 38 inch. Rainfall deficiency for year, 15.09 inches. Temperature Monday, 94 degrees. Temperature one year ago, 88 degrees.

For the first time since June the thermometer climbed to 94 degrees Monday, and it took a fire to make the mercury slide downward, believe it or not. C. E. von Herzmann, meteorologist, said that the temperature reached its maximum of 94 degrees at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, and that at 3:30 o'clock when the big downtown fire on Pryor street was raging it cooled off to 93.

According to the meteorologist, the heated air rushing upward made a breeze that cooled off all of downtown Atlanta save the immediate vicinity of the fire. Today will be fair and hot, he said.

Monday started off with the minimum of 70 degrees, the lowest for many weeks. The maximum represented was the first 94-degree weather since June, when the mercury took a lease over the nineties and climbed as high as 101 on June 20.

64TH BIRTHDAY QUIET FOR STANLEY BALDWIN

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Stanley Baldwin, conservative standard bearer, observed his sixty-fourth birthday today at his Worcestershire home. He spent the day strolling about the country and attending the Ashted horticultural show at which a number of his friends are exhibiting.

Parents Sent to Jail For Whipping Daughter

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. O. C. McDonald was convicted today for whipping her 6-year-old daughter, Lucile, brutally. She was sentenced to serve two years in jail and pay a fine of $1,000.

Over 600 women heard Judge R. S. Dorsett pronounce sentence. Testimony indicated the child had been bruised, her nose broken and her ear mutilated. Lucile weighed 35 pounds. The defendant, witnesses said, weighed over 200 pounds.

C. C. McDonald, the child's father, was convicted on a similar charge last week and sentenced to serve 18 months in jail and pay a $1,000 fine.

PROHIBITIONISTS SEE DRY 1932 CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The prediction that both republican and democratic parties would be strongly dry in the 1932 campaign is political leaders here. The results of the wet drive in state legislatures this year was made today in a statement by the national Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Another statement by Dr. Eugene L. Crawford, secretary of the Methodist board of temperance and social service, said:

"The church people of the south and especially the membership of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, do not intend to abandon for the 1932 campaign those principles to which they have adhered through many decades."

The W. C. T. U. statement declared that the campaign "to smash prohibition state by state" in the legislatures "is a fight."

"The fate of the wet drive this year," it continued, "convinces the W. C. T. U. that political fortune lurks in repeal or modification."

Nearly 7,000 state legislators, fresh from the people, met this year, considered 115 wet measures, and adjourned without modifying or repealing one line of any prohibition law. The only successful wet measures were eleven in number from six states, calling for referendum on the 18th amendment or asking congress to call constitutional conventions. They are indirect and non-mandatory, have no effect on existing law, and afford meager promise to wet leaders.

HOOPER NAMES CURTIS EL SALVADOR MINISTER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover today appointed Charles Boyd Curtis, of New York city, now minister to the Dominican republic, as minister to El Salvador. Hans Frederick Arthur Schoenfeld, of Providence, R. I., who has been attached to the state department as special service, was appointed to succeed Curtis as minister to the Dominican republic.

The vacancy occurred at San Salvador because of the recent resignation of Warren Delano Robbins to become chief of the newly created division of protocol of the state department.

3 BANDITS DROWN IN ARIZONA RIVER

WINSTON, Ariz., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Three unidentified men who leaped into the flooded Little Colorado river Saturday night in their flight after a filling station holdup, are believed to have drowned.

A fourth man giving his name as William Williams, of Chicago, feared to plunge into the stream and was arrested. The officers said a search had failed to yield a trace of the missing men.

ILEANA AND ANTON LAND NEAR BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Archduke Anton of Hapsburg and his bride, Princess Ileana, of Rumania, arrived today at the airport in a small sporting plane.

The royal guests planned to spend two or three days here and then fly to Vienna.

BILL IS AMENDED ON REDISTRICTING

House Committee Changes Senate Plan; Congressional Lineup Unaltered.

The house committee on congressional redistricting late Monday amended the senate bill affecting every district, with the exception of the first and seventh, as approved by the upper house of the assembly.

The house committee, however, did not change the lineup of congressmen, Rutherford, Vinson and Larsen continuing to oppose each other in the new sixth and the other congressmen having no opposition from present colleagues.

An effort was made to place the county of Monroe, home of Congressman Rutherford, in the fourth district in order that the three might not run in the same district, but it was lost. Congressman W. C. Wright of Newnan, remains unopposed.

The changes made by the house committee in the senate bill follow: Franklin county was taken from the ninth and placed in the tenth district; Rockdale was taken from the fourth and added to the sixth district; Jasper was taken from the fourth and added to the sixth district; Morgan, Greene, Taliaferro were taken from the sixth and added to the tenth; Glascock and Jefferson were taken from the tenth and added to the sixth; Crawford, Peach and Houston were taken from the fourth and added to the sixth; Harris and Talbot from the third to the fourth; Telford from the third to the eighth and Tift from the second to the eighth.

The districts, as laid out by the house committee, follow:

First District—Congressman Edwards (deceased); Burke, Emanuel, Jenkins, Screven, Treutlen, Montgomery, Wheeler, Toombs, Candler, Tattnall, Bulloch, Effingham, Bryan, Chatham, Evans, Liberty, Long, McIntosh.

Second District—Congressman Cox; Clay, Calhoun, Dougherty, Early, Baker, Miller, Mitchell, DeCATUR, Seminole, Grady, Thomas, Brooks, Colquitt, Worth.

...when your body is weary and your spirit needs reviving—quick!

THIS pure wholesome juice of sun-ripened Concord grapes does far more than serve as a natural refrigerant. It also affords benefits so far-reaching that here surely is one of Nature's most generous gifts to man.

Abounding in mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins, so invaluable to vigor, Welch's ends exhaustion with an almost magic quickness... replaces burned-up energy without adding a single undesired ounce to one's weight.

Incidentally, what Welch's does for grown-ups it does in even greater measure for children. It builds strong teeth and makes rich blood.

The next time you are just plain fagged, open a new test-size Junior bottle of Welch's and "drink a bunch of grapes." You will probably want to add one-third to one-half water, for this delightful beverage is concentrated goodness. That is why it costs less than any other form of fruit.

Whether for between-meal hunger or as a beverage, Welch's is an essential in the modern home. Serve it every day throughout the year, especially for breakfast. Thus you will protect yourself and family with the most convenient form of health insurance.

Be sure to ask for Welch's by name. Only thus can you be sure of pure pasteurized fruit juice bottled under rigid laboratory control.

WITNESS ACCUSES ALLEGED BOMBER

McAvoy Says Defendant Felt Sorry for Death of Negro Boy.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 3.—(AP)—John Ferrell McAvoy, a state witness, testified in circuit court today that R. A. Bridges, on trial on charges of murder in connection with the death of Ned Van Merkestyn, in the bombing of the Pure Milk Company plant here July 10, had borrowed his automobile prior to the explosion and that Bridges had a package which the defendant described as containing 25 sticks of dynamite.

McAvoy and a negro boy were killed when the milk plant was wrecked by a bomb which police charged was thrown into the plant from a passing automobile.

Following the bombing McAvoy testified that Bridges was reading an account of a negro boy having been killed in the explosion and that he said "I wouldn't have had that happen for anything in the world."

Alex Borders, another state witness, testified that he was with Merkestyn near the scene of the bombing and that Merkestyn was fatally injured when he ran across the street to investigate a package thrown from a passing automobile.

The trial got under way after three defense motions for continuance had been overruled. Three other state witnesses, including Merkestyn's mother, also testified.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

But he himself was called upon to suffer vicariously, intolerably, for he knew that she must be enduring at that moment. That doubled his pangs. O, let him get away from here and take her with him!

"I'm ready to go now," Sally spoke, almost as though she divined his feelings. "I've seen . . . what I came to see . . . and it's quite genuine. Mr. Winstead, you said you were driving by Oakleigh and would see me home?"

The two men, both of whom loved her, watched her with very different emotions. Lowndes wildly, because he realized that the moment he had dreaded, the moment of losing her, had actually come upon him. He would never love anybody else as he loved Sally now. With her went love, the joy of youth, happiness. He wanted to fling himself on his knees before her, to cry aloud that it was all a mistake, that she was indeed his one love, that his heart was true to her alone. The impulse almost overmastered him. His will and his common sense held fast.

Sam Winstead, that cold-blooded businessman, watched her with a very different emotion. Pity, pain, love, admiration. How fine she was, how game, how gallant! She took the cruel blow standing, without sign or sound. Rutherford Lowndes was a very fine thing after all! He turned to her, forcing a smile. "You will allow me to drive you home then?"

He would have given worlds to be able to take her into his arms. He wanted to rock her on his breast, to soothe her like a child. But . . . Sally didn't love him. She didn't think of him at all, except as a means of escape from this dreadful room, from Lowndes. A dazed horror of staying near Lowndes was creeping over her. She must get away immediately. Eph appeared and opened the door to the veranda, and Sally fled through it, fairly hurtling herself down the steps in her flight from the escape. Sam had to run after her. Neither said goodnight to Lowndes Jennings.

Sam caught up with her as they raced downstairs, and they reached the sidewalk together. In another moment they had left the ancient house behind them and were speeding toward Oakleigh.

Both silent. She because she was too confused to speak as yet; he because he suffered the pain he felt she must endure. Although it was very late Moses hadn't closed the shack for the night. He was still waiting for Miss Sally. When she saw the lighted cabin some distance down the road, it was as if the sight stirred her painfully. She turned to her silent companion: "Did you hear what I said when I begged Lowndes to speak, Mr. Winstead?" she asked. "You heard me beg him to tell the truth—at least what I thought was the truth? That he was engaged to me. I thought myself engaged to him, Mr. Winstead. She said I was and I never had the faintest doubt. And I wasn't. I wasn't! There was another woman all along. Lowndes has jilted me! You heard what I said, you saw him jilt me! Crucified pride was in that cry. Sam Winstead's face grew clammy. His hands were cold. Only his heart seemed to burn, cruelly.

"Lowndes knows it. I know it. I can't deny it. You know it," said Sally miserably, twisting her hands. "I feel ashamed. O God, what shall I do, what shall I do?" He stopped the car, turning in his seat to face her. "There is a way open to you, Sally," he said quietly. "If you care to take it. It will settle everything."

"And that is—?" "You can marry me," said Sam Winstead deliberately. And as she struggled for speech he held up a protesting hand. "Don't answer at once," he advised, with a very smile.

"But I don't love you!" she exclaimed, against. "No, I know very well you don't; you're in love with your own idea of what Lowndes Jennings is. He looks the part, so you thought he was it. Now you find out he isn't, and you think your heart is broken. It isn't. Your heart will be healed long before your pride recovers from the blow it has received. I suggest that you announce your engagement to me before Miss Reiner has time to announce hers to Jennings."

"But you don't love me! You can't!" cried Sally incredulously. Of all that had occurred this night, this was the most astounding. Dreadful things, cruel things, undreamed of things can always happen; the heart shudders and wails, but knows it must accept them, believe them, bear them, because suffering is the common lot and must be faced by all humanity. She had already been forced to accept the all but unbearable fact that Lowndes was false, that his love for her wouldn't hold fast. But she wasn't able to credit the truth that Sam Winstead loved her.

"I care enough for you to offer you my name and all that it stands for," he said, sturdily. "Understand me: if I didn't care for you I should not make the offer."

"But I don't love you . . . like that." She was grateful that he could not see her burning blush. "I—I don't see how I shall ever . . . love anybody else . . . now."

"I don't see how you could love anybody else now," he said coolly. "I'm not asking you to love me now, Sally. I am asking you to marry me," and he added: "Do not answer yes or no until you have thought it over carefully."

"Moses is waiting for me," said Sally finally. "You won't mind if I ask you to let me get out at the Shack and let him go home with me?" "You'd prefer that?"

"(A) please," he said soberly. "And you do what I tell you; consider my offer for all it's worth before you make up your mind what to answer. Another thing, don't think I'm asking you without understanding exactly what I'm doing. You don't love me yet; knowing this, I'm asking you to marry me."

He stopped the car at the Shack and the bewildered girl got out. She felt that she had been deceived. Lowndes had been the pivot upon which her whole life moved; and now she was suddenly called upon to replace him by another of whom she had never before had to think. She had now to consider Sam Winstead.

Moses was so relieved to see Miss Sally appear with Mr. Winstead instead of Mr. Jennings that he was actually good-tempered and did not grumble, as he usually did, that they never shut up shop till midday, and he was most dead anyhow for pure want of sleep! He bowed to Mr. Winstead with warm respect and cheerfulness, knowing that he had a good morning.

Sally dutifully peeped at grand-mamma. She had been prepared for the night by the devoted Moses, who had only left her charge when she had seen that Miss Sarah was asleep. Sally stood looking at her for a moment. The small staid night lamp cast a soft, dim glow over the bed-chamber, which alone remained unchanged in Oakleigh.

Tonight her heart was like lead in her young breast. She was afraid of life. It made her suffer so much. See what had happened to grandpapa! See what was happening to his granddaughter! Lowndes had jilted her!

3 ATLANTANS DIE IN AUTO CRASHES

Several Others Injured in Two-Day Series of Automobile Accidents.

Three Atlantans, including a 6-year-old child, were killed in out-of-town traffic accidents, and several were injured Sunday and Monday.

The dead are: Ben H. Mitchell, 38, of 544 Venable street; William Arthur Shelton, 6, grandson of Dr. William A. Shelton, formerly of Emory University, and Bert Jones, 22, former Atlantan, of Birmingham, Alabama.

Mr. Mitchell was instantly killed Monday morning when the car he was driving plunged into a ditch near Lake City, Fla., and overturned. Sam Robertson, his nephew, was thrown clear of the car and escaped with an injured shoulder. The two left Atlantans shortly before midnight Sunday for a pleasure trip to Jacksonville, according to relatives.

Mr. Mitchell, who formerly was employed at Terminal station, is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. J. B. Mitchell; four sons, Ben Hill, Brooks, Royce and Charles; four daughters, Hazel, Mary Anne, Frances and Dorothy Mitchell; three sisters and two brothers. Services will be held here.

Young Shelton was killed late Sunday at Washington, D. C., when an automobile struck him as he was running to meet his mother, Mrs. Mildred Shelton Stokes. His father, W. L. Stokes, of Atlanta, also survives. Services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Druid Hills Methodist church by the Rev. R. L. Russell. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Bert Jones, former Atlantan, and C. R. Wade, 62, of Birmingham, were killed late Sunday night in an automobile accident near the Alabama city. The car carrying Jones and two companions collided with another at a street intersection and Wade, a pedestrian, was pinned under one car. Others escaped unhurt.

Four women and three children were involved in an accident shortly after noon Monday, one woman, Mrs. Grady Danforth, 23, of 206 Dunlap street, East Point, suffering a broken collar bone. According to witnesses, Mrs. Baker, Dickinson, of Church street, East Point, driver of the car, attempted to pass a truck but lost control of her machine and collided with it. The accident occurred near Red Oak, on the Fairburn road.

Other members of the party, which was en route to a church revival near Stoneham, were Mrs. W. R. Morrow, Mrs. Roy Derrick and three children, 1-year-old Barbara Morrow, daughter of Mrs. Morrow; Roy Danforth, 3, and Betty Danforth, 1, children of Mrs. Danforth. No one was seriously injured.

Mrs. W. E. Mayo, of Rome, was in Grady hospital Monday under observation for a possibly fractured skull as the result of an automobile accident near Hamilton. The car in which she was riding with her husband and several others was said to have been forced into a ditch by a produce truck. Other passengers escaped with minor injuries.

MISSISSIPPI VOTERS PICK OFFICIALS TODAY

BY RALPH WHEATLEY.
JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Mississippi political campaign closed down tonight in a riot of verbiage as the candidates made their final pleas for votes.

In all sections of the state, the candidates, 7,000 in number, led by the four seekers for the governor's seat, thundered their appeals from the hustings and then headed for home to join the tread of the voters to the polls tomorrow.

While not a candidate, Governor Theodore G. Bilbo, took the spotlight of the final day by the bustling exchange with Senator Hubert Stephens. In a pair of unvarnished statements issued from his sick bed in Memphis, the senator challenged the governor who had taken the field in advocacy of the governorship candidacy of George T. Mitchell, his attorney-general. The governor came back in reply and the statements were interspersed with "liar," "skunk" and other such epithets.

Governor Bilbo also "caught a wildcat" at Pontotoc today when he ran in on another runner for governor, Mike Wanner, and spoke five blocks away. The voters in the Pontotoc section had a field day as they trotted from speech to speech and yelled in glee at the speakers' sallies.

Fair weather was promised by the weatherman for Tuesday and a total vote of around 250,000 was estimated by election forecasts. Political observers, who heretofore have qualified as experts, freely admitted on the eve of election to a perplexity that was unusual.

"This election will produce a surprise," said an experienced politician. "Bettors were reported scarce over the state."

"They are talking loudly but are keeping their hands on their money," observed an experienced political insider.

Naturally the main state interest has been in the governor's race, in which four men have driven hard and have pulled up confident of victory or entrance in a runoff primary that would be held three weeks after the election.

While tomorrow's balloting represents the candidates' nomination in a democratic primary, it is the same as election, as republicans are as scarce as hen's teeth in Mississippi. For years and years the general election has meant only the official sealing of the democratic nomination, with the republicans refusing often to enter an opposing candidate.

MOTION FOR MISTRIAL FOR LEAS OVERRULED

ASHVILLE, N. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A defense motion for a mistrial in the case against Colonel Luke Lea and three others charged with conspiracy to defraud the Central Bank & Trust Co. of $1,500,000 was overruled today by Judge M. V. Barnhill.

The motion was made by R. R. Williams, attorney for Wallace B. Davis, former president of the bank and one of the defendants. Williams contended the mistrial should be ordered because L. P. McLendon, of state counsel, had asked the defendants if they would admit their signatures on various documents.

Judge Barnhill held that the inquiry was not proper, and instructed the jury to disregard it as the defendants, he said, are not required to deny or admit anything at this stage, the burden of proof being on the state.

He refused, however, to censure the prosecuting attorney, as requested by Davis' counsel, saying that the question had been courteously asked.

Williams made his motion near the close of a day consumed almost entirely by the introduction of documentary evidence by which the state hopes to convict Lea, Davis, Luke Lea Jr. and E. P. Charlton, a Lea employee, of defrauding the bank which closed last November.

"UNCLE ALF" GIVEN FIGHTING CHANCE

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—"Uncle Alf," 82 years old, former governor of Tennessee, today was given "a fighting chance to live" by his attending physician, Dr. Harry D. Miller.

Since Friday, when the aged political veteran underwent an operation for a kidney ailment, he has fought a stubborn battle against death.

He had a restful Sunday night and took his first nourishment since his critical illness.

"Governor Taylor," Dr. Miller said, "is resting well and apparently is holding his own. He has been partially conscious the past 24 hours and has recognized a number of relatives. He rested comfortably Sunday night and took nourishment."

The Phillips car was struck by a car operated by Joseph Nicholas, of Lansing, Pa. Nicholas was critically injured and two other youths, Leonard Riscoe and Paul Orisk, also of Lansing, also were seriously injured.

EDISON CONTINUES SLOW IMPROVEMENT

Aged Inventor Calls for Newspapers Following 7 Hours' Sleep.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Thomas Alva Edison, fighting a complication of diseases, showed more activity and more interest in outside affairs today than any time since Saturday, when his son, Charles, revealed the inventor was "critically ill."

Mr. Edison had a good night and slept seven hours, one more than the previous night. His physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said the 84-year-old inventor was in excellent spirits.

Later Mr. Edison sat at his living room desk reading newspapers. Dr. Howe said he would issue bulletins on the inventor's condition four times daily.

The last bulletin issued today said: "There has been no marked change in Mr. Edison's condition this morning."

ing. He asked to see the newspapers for the first time in several days and is now in the living room at his desk.

"DR. HUBERT S. HOWE." The first bulletin of the day said Mr. Edison "seems to be steadily improving."

Messenger boys made regular marches up the half-mile hill on the crest of which the inventor's home is situated, carrying messages from many points. One was from Sir Thomas Lipton, wishing the inventor a speedy recovery.

Among those calling by telephone were Harvey Firestone Sr. and Henry Ford, two of Mr. Edison's closest friends.

Dr. Howe has revealed that his patient is suffering from diabetes, Bright's disease, ulcers of the stomach and uremic poisoning.

Dr. Howe and Charles Edison have expressed fear lest Mr. Edison should refuse to follow the diet prescribed for him. Dr. Howe said it was vital that he have the proper amount of insulin and of fluid, as too much or too little of either would be harmful.

Mr. Edison, long on a milk diet, six weeks ago cut his routine of two glasses every two hours to one every two hours. Dr. Howe said this undernourishment helped to bring about his present condition.

Dr. Howe declared careful nursing would be necessary from now on, as he didn't think Mr. Edison would "ever be out of danger."

Dr. Frederick Allen, after a visit this afternoon, likened the inventor's condition to that of a ship.

"As long as a ship," he said, "keeps on its course, all is well. But if it happens to strike a submerged rock, then complications develop."

Lions Tree Two Sons Of African Official

PRETORIA, South Africa.—(AP)—Albert and Charles Hertzog, sons of General J. B. Hertzog, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, had a narrow escape from lions in the Kruger national park recently. They were obliged to take refuge in a tree until rescued.

Torrential rain had turned the roads into mud and their motor car got stuck in a part of the country where lions are so numerous that native constables sleep in trees.

The Hertzogs walked ahead to seek help, and by the light of their torch they saw a lion in the middle of the road. They looked around for a place to which to retreat, and found another lion by their side. They then scrambled into a tree.

ing. He asked to see the newspapers for the first time in several days and is now in the living room at his desk.

TENNESSEE TREASURY UNABLE TO PAY BILLS

Comptroller Withholds Warrants Despite Fee Collections Monday.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Tennessee's treasury, like old Mother Hubbard's cupboard, is bare.

For two days its condition was even more dire, for the coffers stood more than $136,000 "in the red," but an expected remittance of fees today pulled the treasury out of the hole.

Meanwhile, hundreds of state employees, many of whom have taken salary cuts, face the possibility of a payless September 1 payday, and in the same boat with them are the University of Tennessee faculty members.

Comptroller Roy Wallace wrote Governor Henry H. Horton late today of the state's financial condition and said he is "compelled to withhold all warrants drawn on the general fund until such time as the treasury will permit the payment of same."

Wallace attached a statement showing that at the close of business July 31, the general fund was overdrawn $136,691.64, warrants for the August 1 pay roll and for the monthly Confederate pensions having been issued in anticipation of the $231,000 in fees that the department of insurance and banking turned in today.

The comptroller pointed out that this remittance merely "places this fund out of the red temporarily," as immediate payment of the state's part of county school superintendent's salaries "will leave the general fund practically exhausted."

Revenue received this month is not expected to exceed $350,000. The September 1 pay roll alone will total $250,000, and then there is the monthly Confederate pension roll amounting to $110,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The treasury announced today that it had awarded a contract for constructing the foundation for the new federal building at Miami to Alernon Blair, of Montgomery, Ala. Blair's bid for the work was $35,985.

BOARD TO MERGE COUNTIES SOUGHT

Shelby Myrick Asks for Appointment of 15-Member Committee.

Representative Shelby Myrick, of Chatham, Monday introduced in the house a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of 15 to present to the 1933 legislature a plan for consolidating the 161 counties of Georgia.

The resolution, which probably will be acted upon at today's session, calls for the appointment of five members from the house, five from the senate, and five outstanding citizens from the state at large by the governor of the state.

Text of the resolution follows: "Whereas Georgia contains 161 counties, a larger number than any state in the United States, with the exception of Texas, which is several times larger than Georgia; and whereas by reason of such fact many subjects of a controversial nature have arisen which vitally affect the future welfare, growth and prosperity of the state, and whereas the question of the consolidation of many of such counties in Georgia has become one of widespread as well as paramount interest to all the people in the state and has recently had public attention centered upon it by reason of the merger and consolidation of Campbell and Fulton counties, as well as the

SPRINGFIELD DENIES TRUCK DRIVER JAILED

Robert N. Springfield, secretary of the Georgia public service commission, denied Monday night that a Virginia motor transfer driver had been arrested and forced to pay a fine of $67.50, as charged by T. M. Frazier, Virginia motor vehicle director. Mr. Springfield stated that the driver had not been arrested but had been made to pay $60 mileage tax and $25 tag fee under the provision of the motor vehicle carriers' act. The act, he said, has no connection with the state vehicle license law.

Mr. Frazier's complaint was addressed to John B. Wilson, secretary of state, who, in his reply, disavowed all knowledge of the incident and stated that it must have been an act of the public service commission, as his department was not accustomed to force the purchase of tags upon truck companies operating occasionally in the state.

According to Mr. Springfield, J. M. Slade, driver of the truck, was not arrested but was informed that a warrant would be taken out for his arrest, as a representative of the truck company, unless he complied with the terms of the carriers' act. A son of Mr. Shelby, owner of the transfer company, was with the driver, Springfield said, and acquainted his father with these facts by long-distance telephone. C. T. Williams, motor carrier inspector, assessed the amount at $60; $25 to cover a "for hire" tag and the balance as mileage tax, according to Springfield.

ernment will be strained to operate for the entire year with only one month's pay from teachers and other clerical employees of that division. If the school department co-operates, every effort will be made to divert sufficient funds to insure full operation, but if the schools fail to help there is every indication that the administration will make no attempt to assist them in procuring other revenue.

Heads to Form Plan.
The city will not be able to pay full salaries in 1931 even with all possible economies being made, and under no circumstances must an increased deficit be carried into 1932, Mayor Key and Alderman Murphy told the department heads. The method of eliminating the one month's salary as painlessly as possible was left up to the heads of the departments, who are to confer with their employees.

Mayor Key threw aside as "unprincipled" the suggestion that the city issue script or carry over 1931 salaries into next year. "That might be possible if Atlanta was faced with a return of high revenues, but we can expect a reduced revenue next year instead of an increase," Mayor Key said. "We will continue to pay the city employees as long as the money lasts, and when the money gives out we will stop paying." I regret this very much, but it is inevitable that we get down to hard pan. If it goes out to the public the city employees are willing to co-operate. I am sure that it will put heart into the taxpayers and that the return will come back to our employees hundred-fold.

Chief John Terrell, of the fire department, said that firemen's salaries are fixed by law, but that he is sure the firemen would co-operate in whatever is necessary.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers and several other heads of departments promised their co-operation. Officers of the school department pointed out that the board of education alone can adopt policies for the schools, but that all possible economies are being effected.

SUB-GROUP GETS REORGANIZATION

Senate Committee Names Body To Prepare Amendments To House Measure

In an effort to make the departmental reorganization bill conform to the views of a number of senators who have voiced objections to the measure as passed by the house, the senate committee on state of republic Monday referred the bill to a sub-committee which is to prepare amendments and report to the main committee by Thursday.

On the sub-committee are Senators Hugh Peterson, of the 15th, chairman of the main committee; Joseph H. Beatham, of the 29th, and John W. Bennett, of the 5th.

Knives Found on Harvey, Rowland As Officers Start Back to Georgia

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Hunting into possession of the weapons was a mystery and the Georgia officers left without waiting for an investigation.

Superintendent Dunaway left for Georgia by motor and said he expected to reach the state prison Tuesday night. The prisoners were shackled by the wrists and ankles.

Harvey and Rowland escaped with eight other prisoners on July 15. They made their way to Chicago where police arrested them a few hours after they arrived and robbed a Chicago man of an automobile.

It was Harvey's seventh escape from prison. He faces a sentence of 110 years.

Glynn, a member of the special legislative committee which drew the bill, and Philip Welner, attorney, who gave his services in its preparation, appeared before the senate committee Monday to explain provisions of the proposed act.

Mr. Colson told the committee the law department alone will have more than $100,000 under the reorganization, exclusive of legal fees paid by the banking department. The bill would reduce the state boards, bureaus, commissions and departments from 102 to 17.

The senate Monday confirmed four appointments by Governor Russell, and passed several general bills. The appointments follow: B. M. Turnipseed, judge of the city court of Fort Gaines, August 27, 1931, to August 27, 1933; Zack Arnold, solicitor of the city court of Fort Gaines, same term; Robert M. Nicholson, judge of the Oconee county court, November 18, 1931, to November 18, 1935, and W. W. Armistead, judge of the city court of Lexington, December 14, 1931, to December 14, 1935.

Measures Passed.
Bills passed by the senate included the following measures originating in that body: An act to prescribe three years as the time limit for actions to recover charges on intrastate shipments by common carriers; to regulate political parties which had less than 100,000 electors in the last presidential election (republicans); to permit the filing of applications to remove marriage disabilities after a jury has refused to grant the disability removal petition, and to enforce parental support of minor children. The senate also adopted a bill relating to recitals in conveyance.

Two East Point charter amendments, originating in the house, were passed by the senate. One allows annexation of a small parcel of land, and the other authorized East Point to contract with other cities for construction and maintenance of sewers and disposal plants.

The special senate committee appointed to investigate the commissioner of agriculture and his department will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

Of course they taste better they're FRESH!

There's a rare and abiding joy in the fragrance of perfectly conditioned tobaccos that is sadly missing in stale dried-out cigarettes packed the old-fashioned way.

You have only to switch to Camels in the Humidor Pack for one day to see how true this is.

As you savor the mild, cool, throat-friendly smoke of Camels—an incense of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos expertly blended—your every taste-nerve gets a happy thrill.

What a contrast to the unkindly hot smoke of dusty, fast-burning cigarettes, to the bite-and-sting of cheaper, parched-dry tobaccos!

Fine cigarettes—made fine and kept fine wherever you buy them—that is the pleasant and palatable Camel story.

The scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the natural freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

As a new experience in smoking pleasure, try Camels for just one day. Then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons

Approximately 500,000, or 21.9 per cent, were older than 50, while 11.1 per cent, totaling 239,705, were between 10 and 20.

The census bureau's figures were based on the unemployment count made in April, 1930, with a total of 2,429,062 persons out of a job, able to work and looking for a place.

Unemployed between the ages of 20 and 25 totaled 414,683, and between 25 and 30, 293,901, respectively, 17.1 and 12.1 per cent.

TALKING IT OVER BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: I am the mother of five children and soon there will be a sixth. My husband has always been kind to me except for the one bad habit of gambling. Recently a great change has come over him. He comes in, goes out, and stays until bedtime. If I didn't speak to him at all it would suit him very well. He doesn't seem to know I am alive. But I cannot keep quiet for I am as much in love with him as I was when I was married.

He makes $25 a week and he gives me $5 of that to run the house. When I ask what becomes of the rest of it I find it is none of my business. He hasn't bought me a dress for several years. When I say I should like a new one he replies, "I would like some new clothes too." But the difference is that he goes and gets them when he wants them. He gives me enough to keep the children respectable, but my parents give me all I wear. When the $5 doesn't buy a good meal as he wants he goes to a cafe.

All I want is his love. Tell me how to get it. I have tried meeting him at the front door with a hug and a kiss only to be pushed away. I am not a bad looking woman. I am not an old woman. I am married to a man who is getting to be a perfect stranger toward me, a man who not only doesn't love me but one who has no pity for me.

BETTY.

ANSWER: There is in this letter an indefinable quality, which, for want of a better word, we call poetry. It is sensed and felt rather than read and understood. It makes tears well up in the eyes and a choking sensation invades the throat and finally makes one want to go out and do personal violence to a brute man who will crucify frail flesh and put the tender heart of a loving woman in the press and squeeze the blood out of it.

But to the practical advice as to how a woman may get the love of her husband which she has lost temporarily. I believe the first thing to do is to assume that it is not lost. Take his love for granted and never make any reference to his lack of interest. Don't try to force from him the expression of affection which is, to say the least, passive and not active.

No doubt the increasing cares and responsibilities of a growing family tax the man's meager salary and because he is worried the love and thoughtfulness that are due the wife are forced out of his mind.

Accept your lot, dear woman, and plan to make the best of it. There are some bright lights in the picture. You have parents who are willing to help you buy what your husband cannot, or will not, give you. He has a good record of kindness to his family in the early years and no doubt the memory of the peace and contentment of that period will woo him back to the old manner of life. He is not happy now. His very silence indicates that he is brooding and worrying.

JIMMY SKUNK'S LITTLE COUSIN.

More often than you may suspect, "Will pay to pause just to reflect." —Old Mother Nature.

To reflect is to consider a matter, to look at it from all points of view and try to foresee what may or may not happen, and if it is wise to do what you are thinking of doing or want to do. Flip the Terrier seldom reflects, and so often rushes headlong into trouble.

long into trouble, and wishes afterward that he hadn't. But this time Flip had paused to reflect. He had discovered a small stranger bigger than Happy Jack Squirrel and wearing the prettiest black-and-white coat he ever had seen. He was harmless-looking. There seemed no reason why Flip should not make his acquaintance. He had often had chicken. A Rat to death. Indeed, this dainty person didn't look half so dangerous as Robber the Brown Rat. There was just one thing about him that was rather upsetting—he wasn't afraid. Anyway, if he was afraid, he didn't appear to be. It was this more than anything else that made Flip pause and reflect.

"You're not a skunk?" he ventured in an inquiring way.

"You seem to know a lot about it," retorted the little stranger. "Still, for all that it happens, it just happens that I am a skunk."

Flip, somewhat hastily and in a most undignified manner, backed off a short distance. Are you sure?" he asked rather foolishly.

"Are you sure you are a Dog?" asked the little fellow testily. "You don't look like any of the Dogs around here."

"What has that got to do with it?" barked Flip. "Of course I'm a Dog. I guess I know what I am. Then why should you think I don't know what I am?" retorted the stranger. "I am just as much a Skunk as Jimmy Skunk is. If you don't believe it, just come a little nearer and I'll let you try a little of my scent."

Flip hastily backed off a little more. "I—I'll take your word for it. I wouldn't have been so impolite if I had known who you are," said he.

"Not knowing who a person is is no excuse for being impolite," retorted the little Skunk. "There are times when being impolite causes a great deal of trouble. It might have this time. You will find that politeness usually pays. You may call me Skunk if you want. I belong to another branch of Jimmy Skunk's family and am called the Little Spotted Skunk. So I am Jimmy Skunk's little cousin."

SPANISH STATEHOOD VOTED BY CATALONIA

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The province of Catalonia was believed to have cast an overwhelming ballot for autonomous statehood within the republic of Spain.

Unofficial estimates of the results of yesterday's plebiscite in the province showed that about 600,000 of the 580,000 voters had declared in favor of a political statute sponsored by the party of Provisional President Francisco Macia.

Ninety per cent of the voters were estimated to have gone to the polls.

The statute will be submitted to the national assembly at Madrid for ratification before becoming law. It is believed it may encounter strong opposition there because of hostility towards Catalan deputies in view of their opposition to President Alcalá Zamora.

Catalonia's status has been in doubt ever since the monarchy was overthrown, the issue resting between those who sought absolute independence and those who wished to remain within the republic as a sovereign state.

Immigration Drops Below 100,000 Mark

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The smallest influx of foreigners since Civil War days was recorded during the last fiscal year, Harry E. Hull, commissioner general of immigration, announced today. Immigrants totaled only 97,139, the first time since 1865 that entries had fallen below the 100,000 mark.

This drop, largely due to new restrictions, was reflected in entrants of every major nationality. Immigration from Europe as a whole dropped from 147,438 to 61,909, as compared with the previous fiscal year. British immigrants decreased 50.6 per cent. Germans 60.8 per cent, and Italians 40 per cent. Canadian and Mexican immigration declined nearly two-thirds and three-fourths, respectively. Immigration from Canada dropped from 63,502 to 21,687, and from Mexico 12,703 to 3,353.

A substantial exodus of aliens was also recorded during the June, 1930, to June, 1931, period. During May and June departures exceeded arrivals.

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Wrong" Bids at the Right Time

51. Where there is guessing, there is room for the psychology of camouflage—an attempt to influence the enemy to make a wrong guess.

Compared to Auction, Contract gains in precision of bidding and proportionately loses in bidding psychology. For a long time I was loath to take up Contract because much of the beautiful psychological strategy possible in Auction had to be abandoned in Contract. You cannot very well maneuver to fool your opponents by making "wrong" bids—and by "wrong" (camouflage) bids I do not mean the idiotic fake bids on voids or singleton suits but something much more subtle—when your partner is anxiously looking for an excuse to carry you to the skies!

Much, however, has been salvaged from Auction psychology for Contract and in fact some very typically Contract camouflage or "psychic" bids have been developed. Bidding psychology revolves around two main points:

(1) Attempt to conceal strength.
(2) Attempt to conceal weakness.
The problem in the latter case is this:

You hold a hand which defensively speaking is very weak, but is sufficiently rich in distributional values at trump to bid not to suffer a great loss in overbidding. However, opponents will not allow you to make a sacrifice bid if they do not expect to penalize you for doubling you in their own bid. To make them feel that they might not go game and thus induce them to double you is one object of trick or "psychic" bids.

The hand played in South's position by Archie Milne, one of my oldest Bridge friends (who now is an expert) is a fair illustration of a "psychic" bid made in order to inhibit the opponents and induce them to make an unprofitable Double.

Neither side vulnerable.
West is the Dealer.

1—One of the extremely rare cases when an Opening two-bid is justified with but 4 honor-tricks.

2—Camouflage bid. Mr. Milne sees clearly the case of a Small and perhaps even a Grand Slam over his poor hand. His only hope lies in a psychological defense—to sow a seed of doubt in the enemy's hand, to inhibit them and especially to make West feel that a Grand Slam is by no means certain.

3—Bummed by his set-up heart suit, West does not smell the rat.

4—East has really another Raise but fearing to invite a Slam on a practically blank hand, prudently abstains. South's inhibitory four no-trump had its subtle effect on him also.

5—From the viewpoint of true art of camouflage, a very bad bid indeed. The "nigger in the woodpile" is disclosed altogether too soon. West can now guess almost positively the camouflage. From the standpoint of deception, the only correct course was to pass. Thereafter East must remain in doubt.

'COMMITTEE OF 100' LAUDED BY DR. KLEIN

Acting Secretary of Department of Commerce Says
Formation Is Important Step.

Praise for Georgia's "Committee of One Hundred" by Dr. Julius Klein, acting secretary of the department of commerce, at Washington, D. C., was received in a letter from Dr. Klein Monday. "I am very glad to know that the business leaders of Georgia are taking this significant forward step," Dr. Klein states in his letter. "If this movement can be launched on the broad, unselfish, and non-partisan basis proposed, it will be an important factor in developing the resources and commercial possibilities of your great state."

In outlining "important objects which might be kept in mind for the work of this organization," Dr. Klein, who is an internationally known expert on economic law, lists the following:

(1)—Increasing the consciousness of Georgians and others in the resources of the state. (2)—Helping to determine broad policies with regard to power supply, rail, transportation, communication, and roads. (3)—Creating an interest in relating legislative programs that affect commercial and industrial developments to the needs of the state. (4)—Providing a forum for exchange of ideas by important committees and for discussion of major state matters. (5)—Providing through committees a means of securing action on projects that can be handled with a joint interest of the commonwealth.

Grove and Earnshaw Hurl! Athletic to Double Win Over Nats; Crackers Are Beaten by Lookout Rally in Fifth Inning, 4 to 3

BREAK of the DAY
By Ralph McGill

Jim McMillen, a personable young man of 28 years who will make at least a net $200,000 this year, attributes his success to the old adoration about keeping the lamps trimmed and being ready for the breaks.

Jim McMillen stretched his six feet, two inches of well-conditioned brawn out in a chair Monday afternoon and talked about his amazing success in the wrestling business—an amazing success that followed a couple of years of pro football and work for a construction company.

McMillen wrestled before two houses in New York that grossed $50,000. His other bouts, three or four a week, bring him in from $1,000 and up.

"I was just ready when the breaks came, I guess that explains it," he said. "I always believed in that. When I went out for football at Illinois I was a big, slow boy. I kept going along but finally a fellow got hurt and I made the team and got my chance."

"I guess it's a sort of Boy Scout motto," he said, "but I always figured in the dull times that I'd be ready for the good ones."

"When I got out of college I had a job with a construction company checking trucks. I kept fooling along with the transits and the surveying things and one day the big boss came along and I could tell him what he wanted to know."

"Wrestling looked like a good chance. I didn't make a dime for two years. I kept in shape all the time. And when the game took them in New York I was on top and ready. And I got in on the biggest money the game has known."

"I think it's going to be bigger next winter than it was last. It's going to keep big as long as it is on the level as it is now."

YES, SIR, I SAID, "ON THE LEVEL"

"Now Jim," says me, "what about the charges that the game is a hippodrome and all in a frame?"

"Nothing to it, says I," said Jim McMillen. "There are no strings on me or anyone else that I know. I step out and I beat who I can. If I can beat Jim London that's great for me. No one fixes it so I can't."

"The best men always win in this game. And I think it is a great one. It has survived mismanagement, crooked promoters and fixing. It is running on the level and that's why I think it will go greater than ever this winter."

"The game gives you a little of everything. That's why people like it. You can yell, get angry at the villain, cheer the hero, boo, see dramatics, tragedy, comedy and pathos. The best men are the best showmen. They know that helps their game."

"But the game is on the level. I'd know if it wasn't. I lost to London. I think he's the best man in the game. Why shouldn't he be? He has been in a gymnasium all his life. He lacked a little weight but he made up for it in science."

"I'm 28 years old. Jim London is about 33. So is Ray Steele. (Pete Sauer to you.) I'll get there yet. I believe I'm going to be champion some day. And when the time comes I'll be ready. London will beat us all and then one day he'll get careless. And then someone will upset him. I hope it will be me."

McMillen is a fine chap. There are no marks on him except for a portion of one ear that is a bit cauliflowered. As I said before, he'll make about $200,000 this year. And how are your ears? Fine, I hope.

BARRON TALKS THAT WAY, TOO.

Talking to Jim McMillen is inspiring. After a session with him one feels like going out and battling the doorman or trying football over again.

Red Barron, the former Georgia Tech football star, has the same qualities. McMillen and Barron talk in an earnest, convincing and inspiring fashion.

A staid citizen in his forties rode to a football game last season with Red Barron. When he got into the stands his face was red and his eyes wide with excitement.

"It was all I could do," he said, "to keep myself from running down there and demanding a suit from Coach Alexander. That boy had me all pepped up for the battle."

The late Knute Rockne had that quality. A great automobile company paid him important money to go around and just talk to their salesmen.

McMillen, talking about being ready when the breaks come, makes one feel like snapping a finger at pessimism—if any.

BASEBALL RECORDS THREATENED.

Rain halted the Pirates Monday on what appeared to be a march toward a new record. To break their own.

The Pirates haven't been scored on in the last 41 innings. That's four full games and a piece of another.

In 1903 the Pirates shut out the foe for 56 consecutive innings. Meanwhile the Cincinnati Reds are marching toward a record in the opposite direction. When the Cubs shut the Reds out Monday it was the fortieth consecutive inning without a tally for the down-trodden Redlegs. That tied the Boston Braves record of 1906. The Reds need another blank inning to set a new mark.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT.

Scotch mice, says an Aberdeen scientist, are smarter than Russian rodents. It required but 40 lessons to teach the Scotch mice to come to meals. The Russian rodents needed 300.

It's a gift. The Scotch mice have been watching Scots respond to invitations to have a drink. Maybe the scientist didn't speak loud enough. Forty lessons are too many for a healthy, upstanding Scotch mouse.

ATHLETICS TAKE TWO FROM NATS TO EVEN SERIES

Senators Bow, 3-2 and 6-5; "Lefty" George Hurl Well.

By Henry McLemore, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Any hopes that Walter Johnson and his Washington Senators might have had of overruling the flying Philadelphia Athletics in the American league race came to an abrupt end today when the world champions trounced their nearest rivals in both ends of a doubleheader, 3 to 2, and 6 to 5, to again take a 12-game lead.

Chagrined, no doubt, at Washington's audacity in cutting his team's lead to a mere 10 games, Manager Mack today called upon his two strong-arm boys, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, to go out there and quiet the Senators once and for all. Lefty and George did just that, the southpaw taking the first game for his 22nd victory of the season, and the right-hander the second.

HOMERS COUNT. The Athletics made three home runs, Simmons, Fox and Todd getting one each. All came in the second game, the first two keeping the Athletics up in the running and Phil's homer over the rightfield wall breaking the 5-5 tie in the eighth. Fox's homer was his twenty-first for the year.

The Boston Red Sox made four runs in the eighth inning of their game with the New York Yankees, but might just as well have made none, for the rally fell one short of equalizing the New York's work in the early innings. The final score was 9 to 8.

Earl Webb cracked two doubles for the Red Sox, giving him a season's total of 51 two-baggers, just 13 shy of the league record of 64 established by George Burns, of Cleveland, in 1920.

FABER BLOWS. After holding the Detroit Tigers to five hits in seven innings, Red Faber proceeded to blow up in the eighth and allow seven hits. The Tigers turned these seven singles into five runs and the ball game, 7 to 2. Faber's opponent of the day, Earl Whitehill, allowed the White Sox but six hits.

Roy Johnston, Tiger outfielder, stole his 20th base of the season in the eighth inning.

In the only game played in the National league Bob Smith pitched the Chicago Cubs to an 8-0 shutout over the Cincinnati Reds. Smith allowed but five hits.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3. The winners found Hebert and Bieleholder for 12 hits, while Connolly allowed the Browns only eight hits.

Public Links Meet Begins at St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Aug. 3.—(P)—The Dick Whittington of American golf—the butler, the butler and the butler—made among them—open their annual struggle over the Keller Club course tomorrow for the national public links team and individual championships.

Virtually every section of America was represented by its bourgeois of the links in the twin struggle, which attracted 186 of the best marksmen of the public fairways.

Thirty-six holes will be played in the qualifying round—18 holes tomorrow and Wednesday—and the team with the lowest medal score for the 36-hole jaunt will be victor in the annual struggle for the Warren G. Harding team trophy. Brooklyn, which captured the trophy last year at Jacksonville, Fla., with a fine 617 total, was the favorite to repeat.

Carnera-Roberti Go Put Off 'Til Tonight

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 3.—(P)—Rain tonight forced postponement of a scheduled 10-round bout here between Primo Carnera and Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweights.

It was announced the bout would be held tomorrow night.

Orioles Sell Robins Outfielder Southern

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—(P)—Sale of Outfielder Denny Southern to the Brooklyn Robins was announced today by the Baltimore International club. The Orioles are to receive an unannounced sum of money for Southern, and a player is to be delivered in the spring.

Southern is to report to Brooklyn tomorrow. He has a batting average of .333 which includes 22 doubles, 6 triples and 14 home runs. He has stolen 32 bases.

Giant, Bird, Wing Players Swapped

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 3.—(P)—Columbus has acquired Carlisle Littlejohn, Rochester pitcher, in the deal through which Lefty MacInnes is sent back to the New York Giants. Larry McPhail, president of the Columbus American Association Club, announced today.

Pitcher Heving will be sent to Rochester for the balance of the season on option of the Giants.

GEORGE WINS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(P)—Ed Don George, heavyweight wrestler, defeated Stan Stasiak in a split-fall wrestling match here tonight. Stasiak won the first fall and George the second and the third. Len MacInnes, former Colgate football star, had his record string of 27 straight victories broken when Rudy Laditzki held him to a 30-minute draw.

CROSBY, BAKER READY TO CLASH IN RING TONIGHT

W. L. Will Referee; 'Babe' Stripling Meets Jones at Auditorium.

Sammy Crossby, if you care to listen to his manager, Pat Boynton, will lay back the ears of Top Sergeant Sammy Baker when the two welters mix and mingle tonight at the air-cooled auditorium.

Sammy Crossby was around the newspaper offices Monday having his likeness struck, as the boys say. And he looks good. He has a good pair of shoulders and legs. And his hands don't seem to have suffered any despite the fact that he has been knocking over middleweights and better.

THIS RING.

Of course it matters not how he looks in the studio but how he looks in the ring. And it is there, says Pat Boynton, that the boy looks his best.

He has been fighting around in Florida for a season or so. And he has a punch. And can box. "He hasn't any mercy in that ring," said his manager. "He likes to go in there and murder them. He can shoot a glove through a space no larger than a fair sized knot hole. And he hurts."

"This Sergeant Baker is a good one. I know that. But it's about time some young fellow knocked him loose and I guess it may as well be Sammy Crossby. He'll be in there trying, anyhow."

Pat Boynton can go on for an hour about the boy.

GOOD FIGHT SEEN.

It should be a nice fight. Sammy Baker doesn't carry the boys along. Ring worms who saw him lay Ted Goodrich like a tile floor some time ago know that.

The fight card tonight is a good one. It will be made even better by the fact that W. L. (Young) Stripling will referee. It will be W. L.'s first public appearance since the Cleveland fight.

Herbert (Babe) Stripling is in the semi-windup era. And he is a better boxer than the ring worms of this city has seen in many a moon. He can box. And while he is no slinger he can hurt with those gloves.

It will be a treat for your eyes to see the Stripling boy work. He fights Casey Jones, a good tough boy.

Promoter Max Abelson has arranged a good supporting card of preliminary fights.

The complete card follows:

Sergeant Sammy Baker vs. Sammy Crossby.
Babe Stripling vs. Casey Jones, 10 rounds.
Battling Mike vs. Mickey Doyle, 4 rounds.
Frank Brannan vs. Frankie Allen, 5 rounds.
Ray Swanson vs. Jim McDuffie, 6 rounds.
(The first preliminary will go on at 8:15 o'clock.)

Tom Barnes Leads Field in Key Meet

Tommy Barnes, with a 73, is leading the field in the qualifying rounds of the third annual James L. Key invitation golf tournament being played on the Key municipal course.

Frank Brannan and Henry Burnett are tied for second place with 75's.

Qualifying rounds will continue through today, after which first-round matches will start Wednesday and continue through the remainder of the week.

Players will be grouped into flights of 16 each and prizes will be given to winners and runners-up in each flight. The tournament is open to every amateur golfer in the city, and is being sponsored by H. L. Jackson Jr., club professional.

It will be one of the last tournaments of importance to be played in Atlanta before the annual city championship starts September 1 on the Druid Hills course.

Final matches in the various club tournaments to be completed during this and next week, but that will end the competitive golf in the city before the annual city tourney.

Tennessee, Duke Sign Grid Contract

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 3.—(P)—A five-year football contract has been signed by the University of Tennessee and Duke University, Paul E. Parker, University of Tennessee athletic director, announced today.

The new contract, which validates an original one-year agreement, calls for games in Knoxville in 1931, 1932 and 1933. The Vols will meet the Blue Devils in Durham, N. C., in 1933 and 1935.

Tennessee also has signed a new six-year contract with the University of Alabama. Parker said an inter-sectional game would more likely be added to the Vols' 1933 schedule.

Fights Here Tonight

Stripling at Last Gets Revenge on Boynton

W. L., Showing Memory Like An Elephant, Takes Fight Manager for REAL Ride.

By Ralph McGill.

W. L. (Young) Stripling paid off an old score Monday afternoon at Candler field.

Pat Boynton, manager of Sammy Crossby, the Waycross welter who fights Sergeant Sammy Baker here tonight, was watching Stripling perform at the airport.

One of the larger sound news men had Stripling up in a plane doing stunts for the sound movies. They caught him in the air from the movie company's plane. And they had him on the ground in a dialogue with another pilot.

Stripling did all the stunts that have made him known as one of the most skillful and daring pilots in the game. The cameras ground out their story, catching the roar of the plane and the picture as the Georgian sent it through its stunts.

When it was over Stripling stood around talking to his south Georgia friends—the two Boynton brothers, Jimmy Jones, of the Macon Telegraph—and others.

Years ago Pat Boynton, a railroad engineer, took Stripling on an engine and blame near scared him to death. Riding a big locomotive engine at full speed is by no means to be classed among the minor thrills. It stacks up today with the airplane or any other conveyance with speed. To the novice the engine seems to leap the track at each curve and the thrills is a "mean" one.

Pat Boynton had forgot all about that scare. He had laughed heartily at the time at a fighter who feared a locomotive was going to come to pieces about his ears.

And so when Stripling asked him if he cared for a little ride the fight manager climbed in with all of his 215 pounds of brawn.

The Stripling plane roared down the field and into the air.

And Stripling started getting even. He died with Boynton in power dives that had the wires screaming like a soul in agony.

LOOPED THE LOOP.

He looped the loop so that Boynton hung by his belt one minute and was dashed back against the seat the next.

He went into spins so that the earth whirled by the side one minute and empty nothingness the next.

And then he came down to let a very pale and very much relieved fight manager out of the plane.

"Now we're even for that engine ride," said Stripling.

The Striplings, "Pa" and W. L., came to Atlanta Monday. W. L. went back after filling his movie engagement at the field.

W. L. will come back today. He plans to be present at the ringside tonight when Herbert (Babe) Stripling fights Casey Jones, Atlanta welter.

TO REFEREE BOUT.

And he will referee the main bout when Pat Boynton's boy, Sam Crossby, meets Sergeant Sammy Baker, the ring veteran.

The pictures taken should make a great news reel for the movie patrons. Stripling put on a good show. He's a real pilot.

ATLANTA SPIRIT IN NINTH KILLED; SHIRLEY OUSTED

Umpire Goes Ejects 'Mule,' Hulvey Helps Win Own Game.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 3.—Hensel (Hank) Hulvey, pitched and batted himself into his twelfth victory of the season at Engel stadium this afternoon, taking prominent part in the three-run spurge at the expense of Climax Blethen in the fifth, which proved the margin for the Lookout 4-3 decision.

Triumph in the third and final game gave Chattanooga the series, three games by two and showed the Nighthawks within one game of third place.

A dangerous bid was made by the Dabbers in the ninth and it seemed certain that they would at least tie the count.

BOTH CLUBS SCORE.

Both clubs scored one in the first. Barnes led off with a smash to right and went to third on Sheehan's single to the same spot. Barnes scored when Tait hit into a double play. Chapman and Shirley hit hard singles, but Cummings grounded out. The twin killing saved Mr. Hulvey's scalp, for every ball hit was a very solid smash.

Boss clouted a triple to deep right and tallied when Biggs singled cleanly to right to even matters.

The Crackers went ahead in the fifth with a single marker with one down. Sheehan doubled to right, took third when Hulvey uncorked a wild pitch, and scored on Tait's fly to center.

Nat was to be outdone, the Lookouts had a picnic in their half. Kingdon, leading off, singled to right. He advanced when Ryan's throw pulled Shirley.

THEN CAME HANK.

Hank Hulvey then smacked the first ball pitched for a sizzling single, scoring Kingdon. Scarritt rolled out, sending Schang to third, and Dashiell's fly brought in Wally from third. Then hard-hitting Harley Boss took further hand in the run-making by singling to center, bringing in Hulvey.

Macon Probable Site of State Net Tourney; Bryan Grant Wins

WEEK'S BATTLE STARTS AUG. 31; BIG ENTRY SEEN

Heads To Confer Wednesday To Decide on Place of Play.

By Roy White.

Georgia's annual state tennis championship will be held August 31-September 6, probably at Macon, Ga., it was learned Monday.

Macon is the only city in the state thus far to make a bid for the tournament, and, although no definite announcement has been made, it is very likely that the Central City will be awarded the event. Formal announcement of the site will be made Wednesday.

Jack Mooney, one of the most prominent figures in tennis in the south and a runner-up to Bryan Grant Jr. in numerous state events, will head the tournament committee.

Grant, who last year won the national clay court singles championship and who is playing now at Southampton, N. Y., is the champion, but will not defend his title.

Mooney, together with several other Atlantans interested in the movement, will visit Macon Wednesday to confer with the city's committee on final arrangements for the tourney.

Due to the great play of Grant, Mooney, Jack Simpson, Harry Gaul, Melton Courts and Billy Hesse in the men's division, and Julian Carr, Jack Morris, Tom Tulin, George Boynton, Burris Bowdler and others in the junior and "boys" classes who have won major events, interest in tennis has increased by leaps and bounds in the state.

Judge Beaver, the Gainesville youth who is playing his last year in the juniors, has won national attention and is likely to be one of the entrants. He is playing at present in the western amateur at Delaford, Wisconsin.

There are hundreds of other good tennis players in various sections of the state and the tourney is certain to draw a large entry both in the men's and junior events.

Members of the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce are very much interested in tennis and although no announcements have been made, the tourney will be taken up at an early meeting of its membership.

The Macon Junior Chamber is one of the most active organizations of its kind in the state. For the past several years it has successfully sponsored the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association's basketball tournaments.

Any prospect for the making of the Macon Junior Chamber always produces success.

The body is interested in the growth and stimulation of interest in tennis in Macon and it was for that reason that efforts are being made to sponsor the Georgia tournament for 1931.

The tourney has always been well-staged in Atlanta.

Von Elm Attacks Amateur Golf Rule In United States

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—George Von Elm, "businessman" golfer, is a copyrighted story in the New York Evening Post today, declares the "amateur" golfer in this country needs a lot of revision.

Commenting on the question of expenses for an amateur golfer, Von Elm writes:

"Amateurism on the links must be the first and foremost a matter of finances. If you're a rich man or come from a family where pennies do not have to be counted, you can be a real amateur. I know probably two amateurs in the United States.

"Every golfer whose game makes him a champion knows there are ways and means to circumvent the amateur law as laid down by the United States Golf Association, and yet remain within the law.

"For instance, a golfer can accept legitimate traveling expenses from his club without feeling like a criminal—and believe me, plenty of them have their way paid. But accepting expenses, so to speak, under the name of 'club dues' is a different matter. A golfer's game in a big championship. His conscience may bother him, but he feels there can't be anything wrong about doing the same thing the U. S. G. A. does in special cases.

"The better angle is one way for an amateur to get around the problem of expenses. If a wealthy club member wants to pay his way to the national, all he has to do is round up a round with the golfer, but $500 or $1,000 that he can beat the star—and pay off on the eighteenth green."

After citing other methods of making money, such as the "stock market" and "literary work," Von Elm adds, "the only way a golfer can be done away with is to modify the amateur law to a working principle of modern life. The rule is outmoded today. There is no golfer among the top-notchers who doesn't capitalize the game, willingly or otherwise."

THE PORTLIGHT

Tilden and Cochet.

The situation involving the tennis supremacy of Tilden and Cochet is a peculiar one. Tilden has said for some time that Cochet was much the better tennis player and years beyond Big Bill's best. There are many who refuse to believe this and among these are some who are none too friendly towards Tilden.

Cochet undoubtedly played better tennis from 1926 through 1930. But the Tilden of 1931 seems to be better than the Tilden of 1929-1930. Cochet's health hasn't been any too robust and there will be a question as to whether he can stand the strain of a hard exhibition campaign.

But whatever happens later, the first meeting of these two old rivals will be one of the most interesting episodes of the year. Big Bill is now thoroughly seasoned, but his belief that Cochet has the edge may not be any too helpful. Cochet, for all that, will have to be at his best to win against a veteran who carries his years as lightly as any one in competitive sport.

An Old Battery.

More than two or three things have happened since the battery for Washington was Johnson and Street. Let it be said that the battery for the year would have met again last fall and possibly again this year as two world's series rivals.

It took a super ball club last year to keep Johnson's Senators out of the main show, and this year, their team has as many games and as high a winning percentage as the Cardinals carry.

Old Barney has done his part of it, but the Athletics percentage is something to shoot at. Gabby Street has also carried out the traditions of the old battery. His 1931 campaign was given only fair credit, in spite of the uphill fight his Cardinals made through the stretch.

But the campaign of 1931 shows that Gabby belongs. He has handled his team ably all season, and this applies especially to his pitchers, who have been one of the main factors in his team's stand to date. He was in a tough race with Cubs, Giants, Dodgers and Braves to beat back, but he is now just about through the underbrush of doubt.

The Old Master.

Everything slumps up but the old master. The college season, rowing and track and baseball, has hardly closed out and yet here is football slipping up the road again. With the appearance of the football guide comes a number of early fall announcements, which indicates that the first training dates are barely 30 days away.

What part of season will this next football campaign be? Just about like the others, without any letdown. Notre Dame again will have a team, one of the best. Army prospects look good. The same is true for Yale and Harvard. Cornell will be better than in years past.

MINUTE BEATS MILITARY BORN IN MAINE

Illinois Grappler Takes 2 Straight Falls; Williams, Harper Draw.

Jim McMillen, the former Illinois football star, added another victim to his wrestling string at Spiller field Monday night by tossing Milo Steinborn, the German strong man, in straight falls.

The athletic attraction was moved up ahead of the semi-windup due to threatening weather and was halted a few minutes because of the rain while the unusually large crowd waited with anxiety.

In the semi-windup which closed the program, Cy Williams, a former University of Florida linebacker, wrestled Paul Harper, a former University of Texas grid star, to a popular draw.

Fearing that Steinborn would get his well-known "bear hug," McMillen was cautious during the first part of the match. He was quick to get out of difficult holds and at the same time seldom ever gave Steinborn a free hold around his body.

After 35 minutes of wrestling the Illinois star butted Steinborn and finished the first fall with a body block.

Both wrestlers came back strong after a 10-minute intermission. Steinborn pushed McMillen to the ropes several times, but the latter refused to "hug," but each time Referee Langford pulled them apart. McMillen used a forearm push to break away from Steinborn after the German had gotten in a few slaps.

The slapping tactics only served to irritate the former Illinois grid star, who, after a quarter of a minute, gave Steinborn a body block and then forced the German's shoulders to the mat with a backward fall and backward body block.

In the semi-windup, Cy Williams seemed to have a slight advantage as far as the holds were concerned, but the ever-alert Harper waited his chances and wiggled his way out. Williams used the arm and leg and the split leg holds to advantage, forcing Steinborn to the ropes several times.

Harper's main weapon of attack was an arm hold and a headlock. Whitey Patterson threw Joe Powell, a winning wrestler, in the opening event on the program.

SUN BEAU HELD SURE TO START THIS SATURDAY

Hawthorne Win Would Put Star's Earnings Far in Front.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sturdy Sun Beau, the champion dollar and cents winning thoroughbred of the world, and many other winners at Arlington Park, today moved over to Hawthorne, where Chicago's racing season will be continued for the next 18 days.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer's famous thoroughbred, winner of $300,044 good American dollars, was not named for the $5,000 added inaugural handicap high spot of the open program, but was considered a certain starter in the $25,000 added Hawthorne handicap.

At that time he is expected to do just as he has in other recent tries after rich purses, which would add plenty more than enough to put him far out in front in total earnings.

Sun Beau Claims To Turf Fame Many.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sun Beau, greatest money winner on the American turf, has other claims to fame besides his record.

Kilmer's 6-year-old thoroughbred surpassed Gallant Fox's record total of $328,165 by winning the Arlington handicap Saturday, and now occupies first place with $330,044.

Sun Beau is the only horse that has run a mile and a quarter under 2:02 twice in his career. When he was a 4-year-old in 1929 Sun Beau stopped the mile and a quarter in 2:01 3-5.

At Hawthorne, Eight days ago Sun Beau ran the same distance in 2:01 4-5 to win the Arlington cup. Both times Sun Beau carried 120 pounds.

Only two one mile and a quarter races have ever been run faster than Sun Beau's 2:01 3-5 mark, and one of them made by White Birch, 18, disputed. Sarazen's mark of 2:00 4-5, made in 1924, is generally recognized the fastest mile and a quarter ever run.

Another feat of some consequence credit to Sun Beau is his ability to win two stake races at Arlington park after going to the post an odds-on favorite each time.

Sun Beau Given Crushing Impost.

BY CHARLES E. KALEY. THE CHAMPION NILE TRACK, CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sun Beau, the champion money-winning thoroughbred, was assigned the crushing burden of 131 pounds for the Hawthorne handicap, with $25,000 added, to be decided at Hawthorne next Saturday.

This was the impost handed Willis Sharpe Kilmer's great six-year-old gelding, the heaviest weight he has ever carried and will be 14 pounds more than the speedy Gallant Fox carried in 1930.

NARROW FILL ON LIFE

Noted Lawyer and Agnostic
May Attend Atlanta Premiere.

There is a strong probability that Clarence Darrow, world-famous lawyer, agnostic and public debater, will come to Atlanta next week.

Mr. Darrow's talking picture, "The Mystery of Life" is to be shown at the Capitol Theater, beginning next Saturday and Mr. Darrow has expressed a desire to be in Atlanta to see the reaction of audiences and the general public in the metropolis of the south. He is particularly interested in the reception his picture receives in the south because of his experiences at the Scopes trial, in Dayton, Tenn., where he defended a young school teacher accused of violating the state law which forbids the teaching of the theory of evolution in the public schools of that state.

"The Mystery of Life" deals entirely with the theory of evolution in regard to the origin and development of life. It traces the beginning of creation, according to scientific thought, from a great cataclysm in space which created the sun and the solar system. It shows the beginning of life in the primordial ooze, which is the first amoeba breathed in the heat-

brates, though the anthropoid apes down to modern man.
It is said to be one of the most fascinating things ever created for the screen.

SMOOT SENDS REPLY TO GEORGE ON TARIFF

Republican Senator Raps
Georgian for Views on Sugar Duties.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, republican, chairman of the senate finance committee, today issued through the republican national committee the following reply to the statement yesterday of Senator George, of Georgia, on the tariff controversy:

"Senator George, of Georgia, asked me whether I am unwilling to permit the farmers to test the effectiveness and good faith of my party in writing the agricultural rates in the tariff act, and in the same breath bitterly denounced the duty on sugar proposed therein, which is two cents a pound against Cuba as compared with seven cents on long staple cotton. Senator George voted for seven cents duty on long staple cotton. Why did he vote for seven cents duty on long staple cotton and against the two cents on sugar? It cannot be to protect sugar beet farmers. The senator's statement is inconsistent and irreconcilable. I ask the senator is not sugar an agricultural product? And the answer can only be made in the affirmative. I direct this question to him."

"Is the senator from Georgia unwilling to permit the farmers of sugar beets to continue to receive the benefits they already deriving from this slight increase in the duty on sugar when he is willing that cotton pickers in Mississippi and Georgia

Chiropodist Foresees Horse-Hoofed Women

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The ladies can't say they weren't warned. "Within a hundred years," Dr. Paul F. Mahaffey, of Springfield, Ill., told the Scientific Association of Chiropodists, women will have feet like the hoofs of horses if they keep on wearing shoes with high heels.

who receive about half the wages beet producers receive to continue with their seven cents duty? Compare the intricate process of raising sugar to that of picking cotton. It cannot be that the senator favors seven cents on long staple cotton because it is so difficult to pick, nor can it be that he opposed the two cents duty on sugar because it was so easy to manufacture. It cannot be because sugar is selling at a high price as it is selling as low as it has ever sold in the history of the world.

"If the duty on sugar were to be eliminated, from what source would the senator suggest we secure the $130,000,000 in revenue now received by the collections of the duty on sugar?"

"We must protect our citizens, be they farmers or laborers, and in order to do so it is imperative that protection be afforded our industries."

AN ATTEMPT to broadcast from a record underwater depth will be made by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 3:30 p. m. today when Ted Husing descends in a new type of diving apparatus to the floor of Long Island Sound. It is expected that the first broadcast, scheduled for 15 minutes, will be followed by one from three others on subsequent days.

The newly invented apparatus consists of an all-metal diving suit and an observation tank from which to direct underwater exploration. The suit, selected for the first broadcast is the Race, a channel 300 feet deep off New London, Conn. On Tuesday morning the apparatus will be tested in the hope of setting an under-water depth record.

On Wednesday another broadcast is scheduled at the same time. At that time the Merida Salvage Corporation will attempt to locate a supply ship, which, bound for Russia, sank during the war.

It is believed that this will mark the first time in radio history that an attempt has been made to broadcast salvaging operations. The salvaging company engineers believe it may be necessary to dynamite the roof of the wrecked ship before it is possible to enter it, and listeners-in to the broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network may hear a description of the laying of the explosive charge.

AN INTERNATIONAL dance program from London and the appearance of the American baritone, John Charles Thomas, will highlight the program schedule of the National Broadcasting Company on Thursday.

At 3:25 p. m. music by a dance orchestra under the direction of Jack Payne will be rebroadcast from London, and will be heard here over an NBC-WJZ network.

On the same network John Charles Thomas will be featured as guest artist of the Maxwell House broadcast from 7:30 to 8 p. m. This is the second in a series of eight programs by the famous baritone.

Richard Henry Duna, author of the famous novel "Two Years Before the Mast," will be the featured guest of honor at the Arco Birthday Party over an NBC-WEAF network from 7 to 7:30 p. m.

Vauclain de Leath, original radio girl, will give a song recital over an NBC-WEAF network at 5 p. m. Another program in the same vein will be presented by Little Jack Little over the same hookup at 9 o'clock.

Aileen Stanley, stage star, will be guest artist with Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees on the
